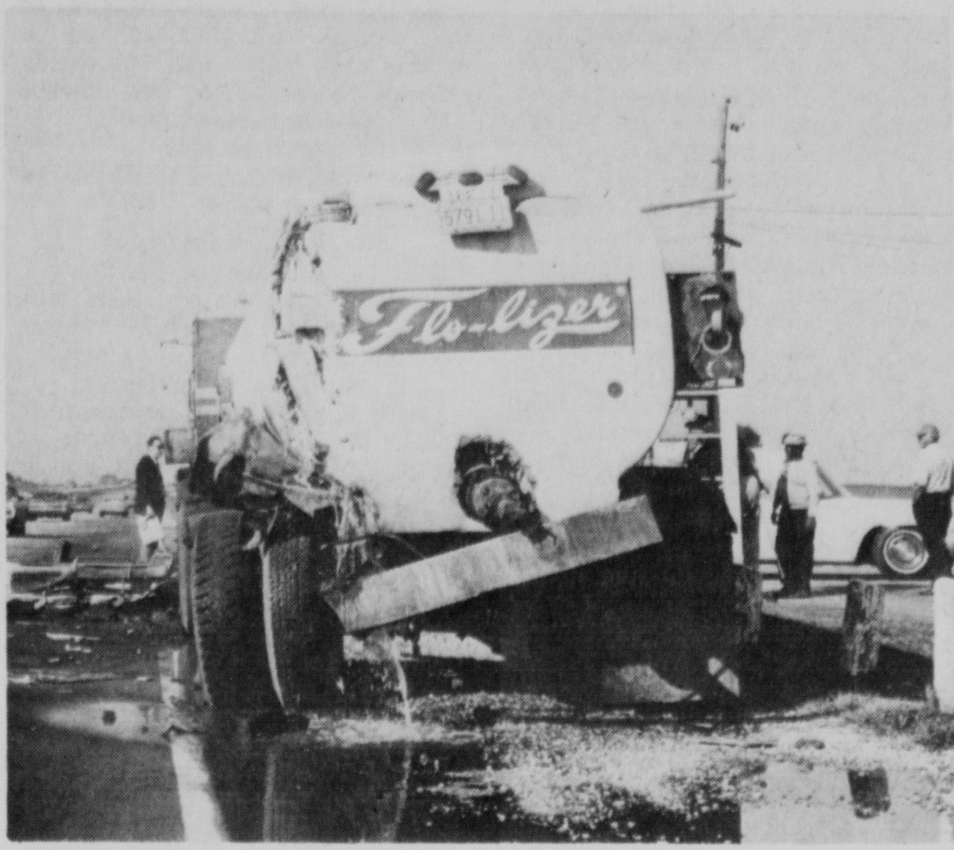
Frankfort Man Killed In Route 23 Accident



DEATH SCENE—Route 23 northbound traffic was halted for approximately 30 minutes as County Law Officers questioned witnesses and took measurments in a truck-pedestrian accident, which claimed the life of 33-year-old James H. Church of Frankfort. Pickaway Twp. Fire Authorities were called to the scene to wash liquid fertilizer off the roadway, which had spilled from the truck parked along the berm of Route 23.

A Frankfort man became Pickaway County's 13th fatality of the year, when he was struck by a truck along Route 23 south of Circleville, 3:40 p.m. Monday.

James H. Church, 33, Frankfort, was pronounced dead by acting coroner Dr. F. W. Anderson. Church sustained massive head injuries.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy James Dixon, a Flolizer truck loaded with liquid fertilizer and apparently driven by Church was parked on the berm of Route 23 in front of Gold Cliff Park.

Gordon's vehicle continued traveling north, struck Church, and came to rest in a ditch off the right side of the highway.

Gordon was treated and released at Berger Hospital for a small laceration to the left hand and shock.

County Prosecutor Richard Gerhardt was at the death scene to aid in the investigation.

Deputy Dixon, continuing the investigation of the fatality, was assisted by Deputy J. Phillip Brown.

Color Guard Memorial To Recruiter

The Marine Color Guard, which leads every parade of the Pumpkin Show on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, will be in memory of Sgt. Edward Kehoe, who was killed in a car accident, Sept. 25.

The late Sgt. Kehoe, a Marine Recruiter in Circleville awaiting transfer papers, had organized the color guard for the 69th Pumpkin Show.

Iran Buys Farm Goods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Huge oil revenues have put Iran among the biggest foreign customers of American farm goods and probably will keep it there for some time, an Agriculture Department analyst said today.

Iran's purchases of U.S. farm products soared to $757 million in the fiscal year ending last June 30, more than quadruple its 1973-74 spending, Michael E. Kurtzig, of the department's economic research service said.

Although there has been some slackening from last year's pace, Kurtzig said the exports to Iran "are expected to remain at high levels for the foreseeable future."

His report was contained in "Foreign Agriculture," published by the department today.

The big jump put Iran 10th among foreign buyers of U.S. farm products last year, up from 25th the preceeding year. In all, Iran imported about $1 billion of farm products from all sources in 1974-75, meaning that more than three-fourths came from the United States.

Huge increases in oil prices were behind the jump in Iranian imports. The country's oil export revenues in recent years have boosted per-capita income from $400 in 1970 to $1,700 last year.

69th Pumpkin Show Theme Is 'Heritage'

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

"Heritage" has been acclaimed the theme for both the national 1975 Bicentennial celebration and this year's Pumpkin Show. One of the oldest festivals in the state, The Pumpkin Show revels in heritage.

Beginning in 1903, as little more than a store front display, the mighty Pumpkin Show has grown through the years to become a symbol of celebration, gaiety and the progress of the people of Circleville.

As we look around us when the Pumpkin Show opens Wednesday, we'll see a host of traditions which have come down through the years to make the show what it is today. Among these traditions is timeless merry-go-round. It was way back in 1905 that the very first carousel joined the festivities of Pumpkin Show. It was placed at the corner of Main and Scioto Streets.

The very first Pumpkin Shows featured mostly parades of horse teams and other farm animals. Since Circleville was then a farming community, the choicest varieties of the harvest were displayed and the show actually got its name because of the multitude of jack-o-lanterns in that first store-front display in 1903.

Another of the traditions of Pumpkin Show which had early beginnings is the baby parade. The little ones joined the festivities in 1906. Early shows also incorporated as part of the younger generation's act, the comic and characteristic parades.

These parades were a delight of those "Middle Agers" who were too old to be classified in the baby contest and still a bit young for the oldster stuff.

Tykes often planned and worked on their costumes for weeks and months prior to the big show. Elaborate imaginations were put to work on costumes which would please the crowds and stimulate the judges.

It was some time later before another part of the Pumpkin Show came into being. In 1933, someone decided it was time to get the lovely young ladies of Circleville and surrounding areas into the act. That year, the Miss Pumpkin Show contest was initiated and even though many thought it unladylike to put the girls "on display", the contest nevertheless caught on and in later years became a huge success.

Mrs. Nella Phillips was the first contest director and Lucille Heise claimed the very first title of Miss Pumpkin Show. Proctor Baughman was credited with the initial theme and worked closely with Mrs. Phillips in the first production.

From that small beginning, the contest has expanded into what is now one of the most exciting parts of the whole Pumpkin Show agenda.

The Little Miss Pumpkin Show contest did not come along until nearly two decades later. That contest, too, has grown into a mammoth attraction to the festival visitors.

With this year's emphasis on Heritage, the crowds can expect to see that theme carried out in the many, many activities planned for the once-a-year extravaganza.

Representing the six area schools, 12 young ladies will vie for the coveted position of reigning over the 69th annual Pumpkin Show.

Miss Pumpkin Show 1975 will be selected from the contestants representing their junior and senior classes at Circleville, Logan Elm, Teays Valley, Westfall, Zane Trace and Amanda-Clearcreek High Schools.

Each year the contest is sponsored by the Sigma Phi Gamma International Sorority.

Traditionally, the first evening of Pumpkin Show is set aside for the contestants parade and is climaxed by the crowning of the young lady to represent the festival for a year.

Miss Pumpkin Show 1974, Laurie May, will be the official hostess for Pumpkin Show visitors until she crowns her successor at the end of the first evening's festivities.

Miss May was crowned last year and has served sa goodwill ambassador for the Pumpkin Show at festivals and fairs throughout the state and also at the Festival of States in ST. Petersburg, Fla. As Miss Pumpkin Show, she has traveled 5,000 to 6,000 miles.

This year's selection of lovely ladies will be hosted by the Pumpkin Show Committee at a dinner in their honor at the Pickaway Arms just prior to the parade. This get-together for the contestants, judges, and members of the Sigma Phi Gamma International Sorority has become an annual enterprise of the Pumpkin Show Committee.

Miss May is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger H. May, Route 1. She was Logan Elm High School's senior candidate. Miss Pumpkin Show 1974 is currently a student at Denison University in Granville but will return to her native Roundtown for the annual laudation of the Pumpkin.

Following is a list of the 12 young ladies vying for the Miss Pumpkin Show crown. They are listed in the alphabetical order of the school they represent.

Miss Amanda-Clearcreek (senior), Dayna Jill Hursey, is the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hur-

Federal Wiretaps Disclosed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Security Agency intercepted more than 1,000 telephone and telegraph communications involving antiwar activists and other dissidents and reported on them to the CIA and the FBI, according to informed sources.

The NSA intercepts began in 1969 and continued for "a two-or three-year period," detailing the foreign travels and organizing efforts of various American radicals whose names had been provided to NSA by CIA, the sources said.

Summaries of the intercepted communications were transmitted via courier from NSA headquarters at Ft. Meade, Md., to CIA offices in Langley, Va., where they became part of the files of Operation CHAOS, which monitored the activities of domestic dissidents, sources said.

Similar summaries went to other government agencies, including the FBI and Defense Intelligence Agency, a separate source said.

The same source confirmed that Dr. Benjamin Spock, actress Jane Fonda, Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver and Chicago Seven defendants Abbie Hoffman and David Dellinger were targets of NSA intercepts. However, the source would not say whether those names had been supplied to the NSA by the CIA or some other agency.

Spock, author of a best-selling book on child care and a third-party presidential candidate in 1972, said later, "If our government would put its

Cut In Lighting Not Harmful

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Most offices and homes could reduce artificial lighting by one-third without harming vision, an Indiana University optometry professor says.

Low levels of illumination do not harm human eyes, Dr. Ronald Everson said. He noted that IU and many other institutions and businesses have reduced artificial lighting in work and study areas to save money on electric bills.

U.S. Navy Now 2nd, Zumwalt Says

CLEVELAND (AP) — Retired Adm. Elmo Zumwalt Jr. said Monday night he thinks it will take a great catastrophe to awaken the American people to the fact that the Soviet Union has passed us in naval power.

The 54-year-old former chief of naval operations said that in his judgment there is no doubt that "the United States would lose a conventional war at sea with the Russians today."

The admiral said also that through negotiations the Soviets have been given strategic nuclear superiority.

"For the first time in our lifetime," Zumwalt said, "we face a world in which the United States has no combination of friendly powers with sufficient military capabilities to prevent Soviet victory.

"What this means then is not that we're going to have a war but that we will progressively have to accomodate to the Soviet demands just as the Soviets have had to accomodate ours whenever we felt our vital national interests were at stake for about a 25-year period."

He predicted that the situation will get worse because Congress is prepared to cut the defense budget sharply.

"After each war we've just let our guard down, and it'll take some great catastrophe for us to come to our senses," he said.

"The first step...is for leadership to begin accurately to report to the American people what the facts are."

Trio Escapes At Tiffin

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP) — Three inmates of the Tiffin State Hospital escaped early today after overcoming and tying up two attendants, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said the three were armed with clubs and scissors and were considered dangerous. The men reportedly escaped in a light brown 1973 model Hornet.

According to authorities the inmates escaped about 1 a.m. and were spotted about an hour later at a farm near Fostoria, where a farmer reportedly scared them away.

The escapees were then reported to have stopped for gas at a service station in Fostoria.

The patrol identified the three as Eric Cristman, 20, of Norwalk; Lodell Thweapp, 34, of Columbus, and Ronald Kidwell, 39, of Ashland.

Cut In Lighting Not Harmful

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Most offices and homes could reduce artificial lighting by one-third without harming vision, an Indiana University optometry professor says.

Low levels of illumination do not harm human eyes, Dr. Ronald Everson said. He noted that IU and many other institutions and businesses have reduced artificial lighting in work and study areas to save money on electric bills.

U.S. Navy Now 2nd, Zumwalt Says

CLEVELAND (AP) — Retired Adm. Elmo Zumwalt Jr. said Monday night he thinks it will take a great catastrophe to awaken the American people to the fact that the Soviet Union has passed us in naval power.

The 54-year-old former chief of naval operations said that in his judgment there is no doubt that "the United States would lose a conventional war at sea with the Russians today."

The admiral said also that through negotiations the Soviets have been given strategic nuclear superiority.

"For the first time in our lifetime," Zumwalt said, "we face a world in which the United States has no combination of friendly powers with sufficient military capabilities to prevent Soviet victory.

"What this means then is not that we're going to have a war but that we will progressively have to accomodate to the Soviet demands just as the Soviets have had to accomodate ours whenever we felt our vital national interests were at stake for about a 25-year period."

He predicted that the situation will get worse because Congress is prepared to cut the defense budget sharply.

"After each war we've just let our guard down, and it'll take some great catastrophe for us to come to our senses," he said.

"The first step...is for leadership to begin accurately to report to the American people what the facts are."

Ohio Power Co. Winner In Study

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Ohio Power Co. of Canton is the only investor-owned electric company in the state to earn clearly high marks in a quasigovernment agency's nationwide study of such utilities' performance.

Ohio Power ranked in the top quarter of similar-sized utilities in seven of eight categories surveyed by the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners.

Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. received no superior marks and one inferior rating for the base year of the study, 1973.

Ohio Edison of Akron was in the top quarter in one category and in the bottom in another.

The study sought to measure price, cost-performance and efficiency of use of capital, labor and fuel.

An assistant vice president for public affairs at Ohio Power's parent firm, American Electric Power, said Ohio Power was fortunate to be situated in what he called the electric steel capital of the world.

William Corbitt also said Ohio Power was lucky to have big aluminum plants in Ohio and West Virginia as customers.

A spokesman for CEI said the study was based on a year in which that utility suffered a four-month strike with severe dislocation problems.

Ohio Edison declined comment.

The author of the study, Dr. J. Edward Smith, cautioned that a company's performance in the study did not necessarily indicate the quality of its management. He said a poor performance also could reflect superior management with high costs beyond its control.

He said the study was designed to help utility regulators do their job more effectively.

Stock Offering Set By Company

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Orange-co, parent company of Arthur Treacher's Fish & Chips, said Monday it plans a combination public offering of 900,000 common shares.

The firm said 750,000 shares will be sold to finance expansion of an orange concentrate plant in Florida and to build additional restaurants.

Another 150,000 shares will be offered by certain stockholders including S. Robert Davis, chairman, who is putting up 80,000 shares. He is retaining 508,000 shares.

Orange-co currently has about 2.8 million shares outstanding.

WE FEATURE NATIONALLY ADVERTISED MERCHANDISE

SPORTSMEN NOTICE!

HUNTERS, FISHERMEN, AND THOSE INTERESTED IN PRESERVING OUR WILDLIFE AND GUN OWNERSHIP. YOU KNOW WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF SPORT HUNTING WAS STOPPED, BUT DO YOUR FRIENDS? . . . WHY NOT ANSWER THEM AS FOLLOWS:

Game herds would build up in great numbers for a few short years then death due to starvation and disease would occur followed by severe damage to habitat which would take many years to recover, if ever. There would be a loss of over five million dollars each year used for waterfowl management, research and land acquisition. State Conservation agencies would lose 90 million dollars per year from hunter licenses used for wildlife management and conservation. The hunter also provides over 30 million dollars each year from an 11% federal excise tax on guns and ammunition which would be lost. Almost all wildlife law enforcement is financed through hunter funds; the real losers would be wildlife itself.

There are forces at work, (often from out of state), whose efforts are aimed at banning trapping, fire arm ownership, fishing and hunting for legal game. Some of them have good intentions, but are ill-informed. Still others are militant, often acting under the guise of "humane treatment of wildlife." All are armed with half-truths, non-factual "information," or outright falsehoods.

Hunting, fishing and trapping is important to our state's economy as well as a recognized sport. In this regard, may I urge you to seek out the counsel and views of our state's Game and Wildlife Commission. In addition I request that you support the citizen's right to bear arms.

I trust you will act in our state's best interests, as well as those of your constituents, on these matters.

A Page Of Opinion

Diplomatic Tipplers

If at times the diplomatic world behaves as though it had one drink too many, that indeed may be the case. The world of the diplomat is indeed filled with glamour, excitement and interesting associations.

It also is filled with cocktail parties and other social smashes which can entrap the weak. The pressures of business are heavy; the temptations are equally strong.

Recognizing that alcoholism has become something of a foreign service officer's occupational disease, the U.S. State Department has adopted a positive approach to the problem. It has established an alcoholic treatment center in Washington for members of the diplomatic corps and their dependents who are alcoholics.

Each of the 266 overseas embassies and missions are required to appoint an alcohol and drug abuse coordinator. Most importantly, the department encourages those with alcohol problems to volunteer for treatment and promises no black marks will be entered on their records if they do.

Of about 60,000 staff members and dependents employed by the State Department, AID and USIA agencies, an estimated 10 per cent or 6,000 — far higher than the national average — are in various stages of alcoholism.

Drying out those who represent the nation abroad and keeping them that way has become a major preoccupation of the department.

Happy Birthday, Helen

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — "You know," mused Helen Hayes recently, "I have discovered belatedly that I wasn't awfully happy being an actress. In a way, it was a wasted life . . ."

I wasn't prepared for that reminiscence, as we sat sipping tea on the veranda of the white, pillared mansion she and the late Charles MacArthur bought in 1932.

"Oh Lord, when I think of all the sleepless nights, and all the tears and miseries, I don't think it was worth it. All those many years of being driven from this house to the theater — just when other people were turning on their lights and snuggling in for a nice evening — how I wished I could stay at home with Charley and the children."

The lovely actress, who is 75 today, was poking quietly at a needlepoint canvas. Now and then she'd peer down over her glasses at the hazy Hudson River just below the formal gardens and the swimming pool. We had talked for a long time, and she was growing philosophical.

"But no, every night I had to go onstage. And each night I approached that stage with fear and anxiety. The stage fright never diminished over the years."

There was an extended pause. Then, she said, "Of course, I never gave this notion a thought then. I would have been tempted to quit. And perhaps I should have, 30 years ago. Oh dear, all those covered-up hospital days . . . I opened in 'Harriet' (1943) with a doctor in the wings, pumping me with needles. When the curtain closed they rushed me off to a hospital, and the play had to close down for a week.

"That doctor said I had bronchial asthma, because of an allergy to the dust in theaters, and warned me if I wanted to live a long and healthy life I should never go onstage again."

She half-smiled. "Charley passed it off with a joke. He always had a joke when things were bad. He said, 'Oh, that's easy to take care of. We'll pitch you a tent in Times Square and you can act from there.' So, of course, the whole thing was forgotten and I went back to the stage."

I told her I'd never heard of her illnesses causing great theatrical delays, and Helen said quickly, "Oh, I know. They were always careful to keep it as quiet as possible. But I knew. I never opened a new play without thinking 'I'm a bad risk.' It was like being a drunk, an alcoholic. I was unreliable, with those awful bronchial spells. Twice they went into pleurisy, and a close brush with pneumonia. It seemed to me I was always bedded down, either here or in a hospital.

"Oh Lord, I was always a reluctant celebrity, and a reluctant actress. I think I just always enjoyed reality more than make-believe. Interviewers used to say, 'Is there any part you've always wished to play?' I'd listen, slack-jawed, and say huh-uh. I never went out and looked for a role, and when any producer would ask me to consider a part, I always could see someone else in it — never myself."

Even when Helen was offered her most famous role, Victoria Regina, she was "in terrible doubt," she confessed. "I remember seeing Beryl Mercer as Victoria, and all I could think of was how perfect she'd be in it."

Always self-conscious at being dubbed a great actress, Miss Hayes couldn't pick a favorite performance of her own, although she thought that "A Touch of the Poet" perhaps brought out the most she had to give.

"I did that play in the period right after Charley died, and I think that tragedy gave me more depth."

For her roles on Broadway, in movies and on TV, Helen Hayes has won all the top awards, but she says of her more recent triumphs: "I know my acting did not improve over the years. I got to overstating — hamming it up a little. I think that's natural. Age is always trying to impress. Youth is always more sure."

Her last stage performance was as Mary Tyrone in O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night" in Washington. "As susual, I was sick," she smiled, "but I was afraid not to go on because people might say aha, there she goes, she's forgetting her lines so she's scared to perform." So she played the part to great acclaim: "I was so weak that I didn't overplay it, which was good. When Walter Kerr (N.Y. Times critic) came backstage and said that he never could accept Mary Tyrone until my performance made her all clear to him, it was a rare and wonderful sensation — but not wonderful enough to make me try (the stage) anymore."

She will never go back to the footlights, says Helen, and she doubts she'll make another movie. "My friends are all 'doers,' and they say I'm leading an empty life. But my life has been so damn full — 66 years on the New York stage and, before that, four years with stock in Washington. It seems to me I can live an empty life if I want to!"

Her emptiness would seem full to most people, however. Helen works for charitable causes, keeps up her mansion on the Hudson and two homes in Cuernevaca, Mex., is reading all the works of Conan Doyle, Proust and Pushkin, and travels.

At this moment, for example, she is in Leningrad, U.S.S.R., "escaping" her 75th birthday. "I love the thoughts behind birthday cakes, but they are so gooey, aren't they?" she laughed, at the conclusion of our recent interview. "My dream" — and she clasped her hands under her chin like a wistful young girl contemplating a first love — "is to consume a whole pound of caviar for my birthday instead of cakes."

Happy caviar, Helen Hayes. You've earned it!

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You might believe that the professional managers of big money pools would, on average, be able to obtain a superior return for their investment dollar, but a recent compilation doesn't show it.

Instead, it demonstrates that over an extended period, 10 years, for example, the combined average return on stock investments by banks, insurers and mutual funds was inferior to the gains in stock market averages.

The survey, by Wertheim & Co., N.Y. Stock Exchange broker and investment performance analyst, is conducted regularly among 92 institutions that manage more than $300 billion in trust assets, mainly pension funds.

In the 10 years to Aug. 31, its "equity yardstick," which combines the performance of money managers, averaged an annual gain of 2.6 per cent. The Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.3 per cent.

The best performance of the three institutional categories was the 3.7 per cent return by mutual funds. Bank money managers achieved a return of 2.4 per cent a year, and insurers, just 1.7 per cent.

Although stock or equity investments entail risk, the potential rewards over an extended period are assumed to be greater than for fixed-income securities, but this has not been so in the past decade.

The biggest return of all, an average annual growth of 5.8 per cent, was in U.S. Treasury bills, which entails almost no risk at all.

To some extent a statistical imperative forecloses the possibility of any index of hundreds of billions of dollars substantially outperforming the stock market, simply because it represents so much of the market.

But by the same reasoning, it may be argued, there is little or no justification either for it to consistently underperform, especially since performance is what customers are paying for, and sometimes dearly.

It is significant that the inability of the three components of the equity index — insurance companies, mutual funds, banks — to achieve even average results is demonstrated over both short and long terms, and when the market is strong or weak.

Over the past year — to August 31 — for example, the index of bank equities rose 23.6 per cent, of insurance funds 22 per cent and of mutual funds 27.8 per cent. But the Dow Jones industrial average rose 29.8 per cent.

Over the past three years all indices show losses. For insurers, bankers and mutual funds combined the decline amounts to 8 per cent. But in the same time the Dow Jones average declined only 0.3 per cent.

Garbage Men Carry Signs, Not Trash

SHEFFIELD LAKE, Ohio (AP)— Garbage men carried signs instead of trash cans Monday.

Merl Walton, chairman of Chapter 277 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, said the men were protesting lack of progress in negotiations on a wage reopener in a three-year contract.

The 17 members of the town service department were reported taking part in the walkout. They included water, road. sewer and office workers.

An Ohio newspaper humorist, Strickland Gillilan, born 1869 at Jackson, Ohio, won fame when he turned out the "On Agin, Gone Agin, Finnegan" limerick.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 14, the 287th day of 1975. There are 78 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1066, Normans under William the Conqueror defeated the English at the Battle of Hastings.

On this date:

In 1644, the founder of Pennsylvania, William Penn, was born in London.

In 1890, the 34th American President, Dwight Eisenhower, was born in Denison, Tex.

In 1899, the magazine, "Literary Digest," said the horseless carriage would really never catch on.

In 1933, Germany announced that it was withdrawing from the League of Nations.

In 1939, in World War II, it was disclosed that a German submarine had sunk the British battleship, "Royal Oak," with a loss of 800 lives.

In 1944, British and Greek troops liberated Athens from German occupation forces.

Ten years ago: The Conservative Party in Britain indicated that it favored abandonment of the British military commitment east of Suez.

Five years ago: Three nuclear blasts were set off — one in the atmosphere by Communist China and two underground, by the U.S. and by the Soviet Union.

One year ago: President Ford vetoed a bill that would halt U.S. military aid to Turkey.

Today's birthdays: Former movie star Lillian Gish is 79 years old. Pianist Gary Graffman is 47.

Thought for today: The first half of our lives is ruined by our parents and the second half by our children — Clarence Darrow, American lawyer, 1857-1938.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, in London, the English Secretary of State, Lord Suffolk, received intelligence reports that the Pennsylvania Colony was preparing an armed fleet and floating batteries to block the King's ships from the Delaware River.

The Pickaway County Historical Society announced it would display antique guns, war relics and souveniors at the museum located next to the Second National Bank. The exhibit, scheduled to run through November, was to be ready in time for the upcoming Pumpkin Show.

Mrs. Donald Miller of Pickaway Township earned top honors and a gas range at the Ohio Food Show in Columbus with "Autumn Glow," her prize winning cake entry.

Terry Trone reigned as Circleville's Homecoming Queen.

The Logan Elm High School Booster Club met for the first time with 81 members attending.

Filming of a documentary "The Circleville Story" was begun here by Reelife Productions of California.

A total of 4,393 students were enrolled in Pickaway County schools.

When a doctor takes a blood test what is he testing for?

Barry F., Ohio

Dear Barry:

There are few more exciting letters than the ones I receive from young boys and girls who show their interest in medicine and science.

I have watched young people as they progress from their initiation into science to become physicians and research workers.

When a blood sample is taken, it is sent to a laboratory for analysis. Modern, computerized techniques can, in a short time, study the blood and give "read-outs" of perhaps 60 or more tests.

Studies for sugar, uric acid, urea nitrogen, cholesterol, calcium and phosphorous are some of the significant tests. Red blood cells are studied for their number, their size and their shape, all of which have specific meaning in health and disease.

The number of white blood cells is an indication of the activity of infection. There are a number of subdivisions of the white blood cells, one of which indicates an allergic tendency.

Heterophile studies indicate the presence of mononucleosis.

The "protein-bound iodine" test is used to determine the activity of the thyroid gland.

The blood group of a person is identified through this testing.

Bilirubin studies of the blood are important in liver and gall bladder disease.

Enzyme studies are important in understanding the condition of the pancreas.

The SGOT test is important in cases of heart attacks, liver damage and other complex conditions.

The ability of the blood to coagulate is studied in people who have a bleeding tendency.

I have listed only some of the many tests that can be performed on blood. The physician, using his judgment, decides what specific tests he wants to have made. This depends on his impression of a patient after a complete medical examination.

Bananas Trap Stray Monkey

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Eric, a one-year-old monkey, concluded bananas taste better than policemen and succumbed to the dog warden's trap at Corpus Christi School while 300 students stood outside and giggled.

Eric got away from owners Billy Schooley and Jeff Reynolds Sunday and spent the night on an electric transformer outside the school.

He walked across the wires into the school when the children began arriving Monday.

The students were herded outside while Patrolman Charles Bryant cornered the monkey in the library. But the policeman called for help after Eric bit him on both hands.

The warden baited a cage with a banana and the hungry monkey scampered in for breakfast as the cage door slammed shut.

Enrollment Figures At Bluffton Rise

BLUFFTON, Ohio (AP) — Enrollment figures at Bluffton College for the first quarter show a five per cent increase, according to Donald L. Pannabecker, associate dean and registrar.

He said 690 students are registered, compared to 657 last year.

A Page Of Opinion

Diplomatic Tipplers

If at times the diplomatic world behaves as though it had one drink too many, that indeed may be the case. The world of the diplomat is indeed filled with glamour, excitement and interesting associations.

It also is filled with cocktail parties and other social smashes which can entrap the weak. The pressures of business are heavy; the temptations are equally strong.

Recognizing that alcoholism has become something of a foreign service officer's occupational disease, the U.S. State Department has adopted a positive approach to the problem. It has established an alcoholic treatment center in Washington for members of the diplomatic corps and their dependents who are alcoholics.

Each of the 266 overseas embassies and missions are required to appoint an alcohol and drug abuse coordinator. Most importantly, the department encourages those with alcohol problems to volunteer for treatment and promises no black marks will be entered on their records if they do.

Of about 60,000 staff members and dependents employed by the State Department, AID and USIA agencies, an estimated 10 per cent or 6,000 — far higher than the national average — are in various stages of alcoholism.

Drying out those who represent the nation abroad and keeping them that way has become a major preoccupation of the department.

Happy Birthday, Helen

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — "You know," mused Helen Hayes recently, "I have discovered belatedly that I wasn't awfully happy being an actress. In a way, it was a wasted life . . ."

I wasn't prepared for that reminiscence, as we sat sipping tea on the veranda of the white, pillared mansion she and the late Charles MacArthur bought in 1932.

"Oh Lord, when I think of all the sleepless nights, and all the tears and miseries, I don't think it was worth it. All those many years of being driven from this house to the theater — just when other people were turning on their lights and snuggling in for a nice evening — how I wished I could stay at home with Charley and the children."

The lovely actress, who is 75 today, was poking quietly at a needlepoint canvas. Now and then she'd peer down over her glasses at the hazy Hudson River just below the formal gardens and the swimming pool. We had talked for a long time, and she was growing philosophical.

"But no, every night I had to go onstage. And each night I approached that stage with fear and anxiety. The stage fright never diminished over the years."

There was an extended pause. Then, she said, "Of course, I never gave this notion a thought then. I would have been tempted to quit. And perhaps I should have, 30 years ago. Oh dear, all those covered-up hospital days . . . I opened in 'Harriet' (1943) with a doctor in the wings, pumping me with needles. When the curtain closed they rushed me off to a hospital, and the play had to close down for a week.

"That doctor said I had bronchial asthma, because of an allergy to the dust in theaters, and warned me if I wanted to live a long and healthy life I should never go onstage again."

She half-smiled. "Charley passed it off with a joke. He always had a joke when things were bad. He said, 'Oh, that's easy to take care of. We'll pitch you a tent in Times Square and you can act from there.' So, of course, the whole thing was forgotten and I went back to the stage."

I told her I'd never heard of her illnesses causing great theatrical delays, and Helen said quickly, "Oh, I know. They were always careful to keep it as quiet as possible. But I knew. I never opened a new play without thinking 'I'm a bad risk.' It was like being a drunk, an alcoholic. I was unreliable, with those awful bronchial spells. Twice they went into pleurisy, and a close brush with pneumonia. It seemed to me I was always bedded down, either here or in a hospital.

"Oh Lord, I was always a reluctant celebrity, and a reluctant actress. I think I just always enjoyed reality more than make-believe. Interviewers used to say, 'Is there any part you've always wished to play?' I'd listen, slack-jawed, and say huh-uh. I never went out and looked for a role, and when any producer would ask me to consider a part, I always could see someone else in it — never myself."

Even when Helen was offered her most famous role, Victoria Regina, she was "in terrible doubt," she confessed. "I remember seeing Beryl Mercer as Victoria, and all I could think of was how perfect she'd be in it."

Always self-conscious at being dubbed a great actress, Miss Hayes couldn't pick a favorite performance of her own, although she thought that "A Touch of the Poet" perhaps brought out the most she had to give.

"I did that play in the period right after Charley died, and I think that tragedy gave me more depth."

For her roles on Broadway, in movies and on TV, Helen Hayes has won all the top awards, but she says of her more recent triumphs: "I know my acting did not improve over the years. I got to overstating — hamming it up a little. I think that's natural. Age is always trying to impress. Youth is always more sure."

Her last stage performance was as Mary Tyrone in O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night" in Washington. "As susual, I was sick," she smiled, "but I was afraid not to go on because people might say aha, there she goes, she's forgetting her lines so she's scared to perform." So she played the part to great acclaim: "I was so weak that I didn't overplay it, which was good. When Walter Kerr (N.Y. Times critic) came backstage and said that he never could accept Mary Tyrone until my performance made her all clear to him, it was a rare and wonderful sensation — but not wonderful enough to make me try (the stage) anymore."

She will never go back to the footlights, says Helen, and she doubts she'll make another movie. "My friends are all 'doers,' and they say I'm leading an empty life. But my life has been so damn full — 66 years on the New York stage and, before that, four years with stock in Washington. It seems to me I can live an empty life if I want to!"

Her emptiness would seem full to most people, however. Helen works for charitable causes, keeps up her mansion on the Hudson and two homes in Cuernevaca, Mex., is reading all the works of Conan Doyle, Proust and Pushkin, and travels.

At this moment, for example, she is in Leningrad, U.S.S.R., "escaping" her 75th birthday. "I love the thoughts behind birthday cakes, but they are so gooey, aren't they?" she laughed, at the conclusion of our recent interview. "My dream" — and she clasped her hands under her chin like a wistful young girl contemplating a first love — "is to consume a whole pound of caviar for my birthday instead of cakes."

Happy caviar, Helen Hayes. You've earned it!

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You might believe that the professional managers of big money pools would, on average, be able to obtain a superior return for their investment dollar, but a recent compilation doesn't show it.

Instead, it demonstrates that over an extended period, 10 years, for example, the combined average return on stock investments by banks, insurers and mutual funds was inferior to the gains in stock market averages.

The survey, by Wertheim & Co., N.Y. Stock Exchange broker and investment performance analyst, is conducted regularly among 92 institutions that manage more than $300 billion in trust assets, mainly pension funds.

In the 10 years to Aug. 31, its "equity yardstick," which combines the performance of money managers, averaged an annual gain of 2.6 per cent. The Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.3 per cent.

The best performance of the three institutional categories was the 3.7 per cent return by mutual funds. Bank money managers achieved a return of 2.4 per cent a year, and insurers, just 1.7 per cent.

Although stock or equity investments entail risk, the potential rewards over an extended period are assumed to be greater than for fixed-income securities, but this has not been so in the past decade.

The biggest return of all, an average annual growth of 5.8 per cent, was in U.S. Treasury bills, which entails almost no risk at all.

To some extent a statistical imperative forecloses the possibility of any index of hundreds of billions of dollars substantially outperforming the stock market, simply because it represents so much of the market.

But by the same reasoning, it may be argued, there is little or no justification either for it to consistently underperform, especially since performance is what customers are paying for, and sometimes dearly.

It is significant that the inability of the three components of the equity index — insurance companies, mutual funds, banks — to achieve even average results is demonstrated over both short and long terms, and when the market is strong or weak.

Over the past year — to August 31 — for example, the index of bank equities rose 23.6 per cent, of insurance funds 22 per cent and of mutual funds 27.8 per cent. But the Dow Jones industrial average rose 29.8 per cent.

Over the past three years all indices show losses. For insurers, bankers and mutual funds combined the decline amounts to 8 per cent. But in the same time the Dow Jones average declined only 0.3 per cent.

Garbage Men Carry Signs, Not Trash

SHEFFIELD LAKE, Ohio (AP)— Garbage men carried signs instead of trash cans Monday.

Merl Walton, chairman of Chapter 277 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, said the men were protesting lack of progress in negotiations on a wage reopener in a three-year contract.

The 17 members of the town service department were reported taking part in the walkout. They included water, road. sewer and office workers.

An Ohio newspaper humorist, Strickland Gillilan, born 1869 at Jackson, Ohio, won fame when he turned out the "On Agin, Gone Agin, Finnegan" limerick.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 14, the 287th day of 1975. There are 78 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1066, Normans under William the Conqueror defeated the English at the Battle of Hastings.

On this date:

In 1644, the founder of Pennsylvania, William Penn, was born in London.

In 1890, the 34th American President, Dwight Eisenhower, was born in Denison, Tex.

In 1899, the magazine, "Literary Digest," said the horseless carriage would really never catch on.

In 1933, Germany announced that it was withdrawing from the League of Nations.

In 1939, in World War II, it was disclosed that a German submarine had sunk the British battleship, "Royal Oak," with a loss of 800 lives.

In 1944, British and Greek troops liberated Athens from German occupation forces.

Ten years ago: The Conservative Party in Britain indicated that it favored abandonment of the British military commitment east of Suez.

Five years ago: Three nuclear blasts were set off — one in the atmosphere by Communist China and two underground, by the U.S. and by the Soviet Union.

One year ago: President Ford vetoed a bill that would halt U.S. military aid to Turkey.

Today's birthdays: Former movie star Lillian Gish is 79 years old. Pianist Gary Graffman is 47.

Thought for today: The first half of our lives is ruined by our parents and the second half by our children — Clarence Darrow, American lawyer, 1857-1938.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, in London, the English Secretary of State, Lord Suffolk, received intelligence reports that the Pennsylvania Colony was preparing an armed fleet and floating batteries to block the King's ships from the Delaware River.

Teen Troubled By Pill Myths

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and my boyfriend is 18. We've been going steady for two years and hope to marry some day.

Here's the problem: I used to take birth control pills, but my boyfriend made me stop because he said he heard they could cause blood clots, make my hair fall out and cause lots of other terrible side effects.

We've continued to have sex relations, but nothing has happened. He thinks maybe I am sterile from the Pill. Is that possible?

We want children some day, and now I am worried that there is something wrong with me and that if I ever do have a child, it will be deformed.

I am terribly worried about myself, Abby. Please help me. I have no mother to ask, and I don't know any doctors.

WORRIED IN PA.

DEAR WORRIED: You need professional counseling. If your school offers that service, please take advantage of it. If not, your local Planned Parenthood office can help you. You may be worrying needlessly, but it's important that you learn the facts.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to a wonderful woman for nearly two years. We get along very well, but I have one complaint. The only night she lets me make love to her is Thursday because she gets her hair done every Friday.

Any suggestions?

HUNGARY FOR LOVE

DEAR HUNGARY: When the time for "making love" depends upon when your wife has her hair appointment it's time to male an appointment with a marriage counselor!

DEAR ABBY: SEEN IT ALL complained about a 68-year-old neighbor lady who bent over to plant pansies in a short dress and exposed her uncovered behind.

Another reader suggested SEEN IT take a picture of the pansy planter in living color, enlarge it and send it to her so she could see herself as others see her.

Let me tell you how WE cured a similar problem.

Several years ago, we moved into a really nice section of town. Imagine my surprise when my two boys (ages 10 and 12) came running into the house to tell me there were naked people next door!

I couldn't believe it, so I went outside to see for myself. It was true. There were three naked children running around completely naked. Thier mothers were sitting nearby at a picnic table, naked from the waist up and nursing their babies out in the open yard.

I was speechless! I gave my boys firm instructions to play in their own front yard until the situation improved.

My husband and I discussed it, immediately bought a six-foot-high redwood fence and put it up.

When I ran into this neighbor on the street, I told her WHY we had put up the fence, and she said, "The human body is beautiful and should be on display like Greek statues."

After I gave her a piece of my mind, she added, "I notice that you hang your wash outside, which makes the whole neighborhood look like a Dogpatch!"

How's that for nerve?

Anyway, a fence is the answer to improve the view-not a picture.

Laurelville Church Women Observe Annual Guest Night

Women of Laurelville Church of God observed Guest Night at the church on Thursday with 52 members and guests present.

Judy Summers led in prayer preceding the program begun with a skit by Josephine Hardman, Rosemary Bell and Margie Ebert. The poems "Give Lavishly And Live Abundantly" and "Flowers Leave Their Fragrance On The Hand That Bestow Them" were read by Mrs. Hardman.

Mrs. Summers told how missionaries are supported and where the money given by the women of the church earned from group projects is used.

David Hartley showed how to decorate cake and the finished product was auctioned by the Rev. Lynn Summers with Lester Ebert bidding the highest. A white elephant sale was then conducted. Refreshments of sandwiches, doughnuts and punch were served.

Present were Mrs. Patty Welliver, Mrs. Charlotte Ash, Rev. and Mrs. Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Johnston and Vicki, Dave Stump, Wanda Smith, Mr. and Mrs. David Hartley and Michael, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hartley and Bridget, Linda Bell and Katy. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gabriel and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Poling, Bertha Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hardman, Mrs. Jean Johnston and Linda, Francine Disbennett, Thelma Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Holbrook, Norma Stump, Mr. and Mrs. John Fortner, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ebert, Mrs. Sue McNichols, Mr. and Mrs. Hombra Moreno and Alma Radabaugh.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

FIRST SALE—Selling the first ticket for a raffle being conducted by Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club is Kathleen Hoffman, financial chairman on the left, giving the ticket to Louise Hill, BPW president. Proceeds from the raffle will be used for scholarships for two local girls, sponsor a girl to Buckeye Girls' State and other charities the club participates in. The drawing for cash awards will be held on Dec. 18.

Mt. Pleasant UMW Meets At Church

United Methodist Women of Mt. Pleasant Church met recently in the social rooms of the church. Mrs. Marion Mowery opened the session with prayer and Mrs. John Dearth Sr. used for devotions Matthew chapter 24, Mark chapter 13 and Luke chapter 17.

Roll call was answered by 10 members and three guests, Mrs. Ross Morehead, Mrs. James Casto and Jeannie Brown. A letter from Richard Comstock of the Chillicothe Veterans Hospital was read concerning gifts for the patients at Christmas. Members agreed to send a check for $10 and any one wishing to give must do so at the next meeting as the money must be sent by Dec. 12. Mrs. Oscar Atwood read a letter from Mrs. James Ullman asking for a pledge to missions.

Mrs. Mowery reported on the District Meeting in Circleville recently. It was agreed to accept the slate of officers presented by the nominating committee. Plans were completed for a Turkey Supper to be held Oct. 23.

Mrs. Ward Cross presented a program including two poems from McGuffey Readers, "Forty Years Ago" and "Rock Me To Sleep Mother." Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Brown and Mrs. John A. Moss Sr. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. John A. Moss Sr.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Wheeler Rittinger with Mrs. Roy Rittinger as assisting hostess.

Wastepaper Rises To $10 Per Ton

CLEVELAND (AP)—Remember paper drives?

Well, Boy Scout troops, church and school groups and other organizations may soon be bidding for those stacks of yellowing newsprint in the basement.

Paper industry executives say wastepaper is selling for $10 a ton after having nearly no value for most of a year.

The good news may be linked to energy problems since Larry Venvertloh, manager of Packaging Corp. of America plant here, says much of the increase seems to come from the home insulation industry.

But he says it's also possible the wastepaper comeback may herald better days for the economy.

"It's only speculation, but the increased movement of products has increased the demand for wastepaper," Venvertloh said.

Two years ago paper mills were paying $40 a ton for waste paper. Then the recession hit, knocking the bottom out of the market, he said.

But a vice president of Lorain's National Waste Paper Co. said waste paper demand could be misleading.

Irwin Mindell said that for the past 45 years, the demand for wastepaper has been a good barometer of what the economy would be doing in three or four months. But he said this time, while paper demand is going up, demand for nonferrous metals is dropping.

A vice president of Cleveland Iron & Metal Co., Morris Winick, agreed.

"The paper mills' inventories have been low and during our fall rains, no one was saving wastepaper," he said.

Mindell said paper mill managers tell him 1976 will be a great year for the industry but that if groups and individuals can be persuaded to save paper, the situation need not reach extremes.

"If anyone is planning a paper drive, now is the time," Mindell said. "The prices have not been as high in months and you will never know when they could collapse again."

Dead Men Identified

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP) — The identification of three bodies found in the wreckage of a light airplane as those of three Ohio men was confirmed Monday through dental charts.

Sgt. John Pardon of the Douglas County sheriff's office said the three were David Stadler, 44, and John Stadler, 40, brothers from Castalia, Ohio, and David Lamb, Bellevue, Ohio.

They were en route to a visit with William Stadler of Elmira, Ore., on Feb. 15 when their single-engine plane disappeared between Reedsport and Eugene.

A metal, Social Security card found near the scattered, charred wreckage confirmed the identification made through dental records.

The plane was found by Murray Leslie of Eugene, a deer hunter, in dense woods about 12 miles south of Drain. It had been the object of a widespread search last winter.

Antenna Mishap Fatal To Man

NORTH VERNON, Ind. (AP) — A young man helping remove an antenna suffered a fatal electric shock Monday.

Police said James E. Priest, 25, North Vernon, died when the citizens' band attenna fell across a 7,200-volt power line as he stood on a metal chair.

Sheila Jones, who was helping him, suffered second-degree burns and was hospitalized.

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP) — The identification of three bodies found in the wreckage of a light airplane as those of three Ohio men was confirmed Monday through dental charts.

Sgt. John Pardon of the Douglas County sheriff's office said the three were David Stadler, 44, and John Stadler, 40, brothers from Castalia, Ohio, and David Lamb, Bellevue, Ohio.

They were en route to a visit with William Stadler of Elmira, Ore., on Feb. 15 when their single-engine plane disappeared between Reedsport and Eugene.

A metal, Social Security card found near the scattered, charred wreckage confirmed the identification made through dental records.

The plane was found by Murray Leslie of Eugene, a deer hunter, in dense woods about 12 miles south of Drain. It had been the object of a widespread search last winter.

Seek Green Barrel With Poisonous Alkali

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police said Monday they were seeking a green barrel containing dangerous chemicals stolen from the front yard of a home in suburban University Heights.

Authorities said the poisonous alkalis were used to help fertilize the resident's yard.

They said the chemicals could take effect two to three weeks after contact.

Arts And Crafts Adds Bicentennial Touch

Two classes have been deleted from Section II, three classes added to Section IV, and one class added to Section V in keeping with the changes necessary in the Home Arts and Crafts Department.

A spcial Bicentennial Award has been added for Sections I through IV.

The special awards will be presented to the persons, which, in the opinion of the judges, has made the best use of a local historical motif.

Questions about any class may be made by contacting any member of the committee: Mrs. Richard Plum, Mrs. Franklin Uland, Mrs. William Myers, Mrs. Robert A. Jones, Mrs. Royce Woolever, Mrs. George Seimer or the chairman Mrs. Sterling Poling.

Entries are to be made at the YMCA building, 151 E. Franklin St., between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Each person exhibiting will be limited to one exhibit in each class except new quilts where two entries will be accepted and Section I, class as noted.

All must be handmade or hand decorated and must be the work of the person in whose name it is entered. The only exception to this rule are entries in Section I, Class 1 and Class 7; and Section III, Class 5.

No exhibit will be released before noon Sunday and must be called for no later than 2 p.m. Sunday.

PRETTY BABE—Baby Martha Mary Wolfe rode around the 1912 Pumpkin Show in a very pretty buggy. She was escorted in the baby parade that year by Doris Seitz, Dolly Voll and Erma Jeffries. Martha is today Mrs. Luther Bower, 618 Beverly Road.

Art Show Celebrates 16th Anniversary As Pumpkin Show Feature

Mrs. H. H. Shuttleworth is chairman of the Pumpkin Show art show for the ninth year. The display at the 69th annual festival also marks the 16th anniversary for the art show. Assisting Mrs. Shuttleworth in the directing duties is Mrs. James Schoby.

Rules governing the participation of the 1975 art show are much the same as in past years. Entry is restricted to residents of the Circleville trading area. This area includes a 17-mile radius of the city and all of Pickaway County.

Entries will be accepted and displayed in the new Pumpkin Show display building at 124 Watt St. They will be accepted between the hours of 4 and 6 p.m. Tuesday. All paintings and frames must be dry at the time of entry. All youth entries must be either matted or framed.

Mrs. Shuttleworth said the entries will be judged at 10 a.m. Wednesday. The judge will hold a critique Saturday morning at 11.

Entries are divided into adult and youth classes. Adult classifications are oil painting, varnished casein; watercolor, tempera, casein or pastel; graphics, prints or drawings; mixed media; three dimensional, clay, sculpture, or ceramics; and photography.

The mixed media classification will also include unframed hangings. Ceramic entries must be hand molded.

Youth classifications are divided according to grade on a 1-12 scale. Class 1 will include grades 1-3; class 2, grades 4-6; class 3, grades 7-9; class 4, grades 10-12. Any medium can qualify for entry in the youth art show.

All entries must be the original work of the entrant and cannot be copied or traced from other paintings or drawings. An entry that has previously won an award in the Pumpkin Show display may not be re-entered.

Mrs. Shuttleworth and Mrs. Schoby reserve the right to reject any work of art that is in their opinions unsuitable for exhibition.

In classes where no competition exists, or if, in the opinion of the judges, an entry exhibited is not worthy of a first award, the judges may award second, third or no award.

Adult and youth paintings must be framed and have sturdy wires fastened securely for hanging.

Youth are permitted two entries in each class, any media. Adults are only permitted one entry in each class.

Entries will be released between 12 and 2 p.m. Sunday. Premiums will also be awarded at that time.

The Pumpkin Show Committee will not be liable or responsible for any damage, loss or injury to any of the projects exhibited, however, the Society will take every precaution possible to protect the exhibitors from such loss or damage to all articles entered and exhibited.

The committee will not be responsible for entries not claimed at the specified time.

First award winners in the adult classes will recieve $3; second, $2; third, $1. The Best of Show award winner will receive $5.

Youth premiums are $2 for the first award winners; $1.50 for second; and $1 for third. The best of the Youth Show award winner will be given $3.

TO PERFORM—Ken McClary will perform in the Country-Western Variety Show, 9 p.m. Saturday at the West Main Street Stage.

Carrousels To Display Clogging

An exhibition of several dance styles will be presented to Pumpkin Show visitors by a Pickaway County dance club, The Carrousels, Friday at 9:15 p.m. at the West Main street platform.

The Carrousels, led by Robert and Velma Burtner, presented a similar program of American round and square dancing at the 1974 Show. This year they have invited a Springfield group to demonstrate another type of dance, Clogging.

Clogging, like square dancing, is done in formation, but the dancers wear taps on their shoes and their dance steps tap out a rhythm. It is, however, a completely unique dance form.

The Carrousels will take the floor for their specialty, the round dances, stepping to waltz, fox trot, rumba nad tango rhythms.

Eldon Pittinger, from Chillicothe, will call for the dancers from Pickaway, Ross and Fayette Counties when they turn to the square dances.

Dancing is a growing international hobby attracting persons of all ages who develop clubs to increase their enjoyment and education of their chosen dance style, from folk dancing, American-style square and round dancing, hoe-down square dancing to formal ballroom dance.

County Receives Reimbursements

Pickaway County was among six counties receiving second half 1974 property tax rollback reimbursements, according to State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

Pickaway, Licking, Fairfield, Ashtabula, Guernsey and Paulding counties received $2,254,706.48 in rollback reimbursements.

The distribution of $617,100.15 for administering and granting homestead exemptions to elderly homeowners was distributed to the six counties.

Pickaway County received $206,355.40 in property rollback reimbursements and $133,066.66 in homestead exemption reimbursements payments.

Each county received two per cent of the total dollar amount of homestead exemptions granted within the county for administering the homestead exemption program.

Property tax collections and rollback grants are based upon tax settlements of the previous year, Ferguson said. There are two settlements per year, each covering a six month period and funded entirely by the state income tax.

Semi-annual homestead exemption reimbursements, as provided for by state law in 1972, also are based upon the previous year's tax settlements, he added.

A senior citizen must file only once with his county auditor unless his homestead status changes, Ferguson said.

Homestead exemptions were restricted to homeowners 65 years of age or older and with incomes of $10,000 or less.

The exemption amounted to 70 per cent of taxable property value for incomes up to and including $2,000 the previous year, 60 per cent for incomes up to and including $4,000, 50 per cent for incomes up to and including $6,000 and 40 per cent for incomes up to and including $10,000.

Festival Schedules Kloes Show

Margaret Kloes dance students from London, will perform for Pumpkin Show visitors Friday evening, beginning 7 p.m. on the West Main Street platform.

The dance instructor brings her 21st class of students to participate in the 1975 show. Fourteen youths will be performing, including featured Dickie Wiseman, in a repeat portrayal of Ted Lewis, Circleville's late great showman and celebrity, in a song and dance routine "When My Baby Smiles at Me."

Also featured will be Cherie Bartlett, Karla and Kelly Cassell, Pam Sheerin, Iaine Culp, Teresa Ball, Kim and Traci Cassel, Kathy Boyer, Michele Kovac, Nina Moore, Laura Tinen and Jill Cunningham.

The show will also include two chorus lines, the Little and Big Kloesettes.

Senior Citizens To Perform At Pumpkin Show

Washboards, pie pans, pot lids and patriotism is the winning combination of the Pickaway County's Senior Citizen kitchen Band, which will slate two performances at the Circleville Pumpkin Show 2:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday at the West Main Street stage.

The program, commemorating the nation in song, will include renditions of patriotic songs, from "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" to "Yankee Doodle" with accompaniment by kazoos and kitchen utensils.

The band is composed of 12 young seniors who have been performing together for three years. They were featured at the Senior Citizen Pavilion at the Ohio State Fair this year and traveled extensively around the south central Ohio area performing in hospitals, and for clubs and civic organizations.

TO PERFORM—Ken McClary will perform in the Country-Western Variety Show, 9 p.m. Saturday at the West Main Street Stage.

Carrousels To Display Clogging

An exhibition of several dance styles will be presented to Pumpkin Show visitors by a Pickaway County dance club, The Carrousels, Friday at 9:15 p.m. at the West Main street platform.

The Carrousels, led by Robert and Velma Burtner, presented a similar program of American round and square dancing at the 1974 Show. This year they have invited a Springfield group to demonstrate another type of dance, Clogging.

Clogging, like square dancing, is done in formation, but the dancers wear taps on their shoes and their dance steps tap out a rhythm. It is, however, a completely unique dance form.

The Carrousels will take the floor for their specialty, the round dances, stepping to waltz, fox trot, rumba nad tango rhythms.

Eldon Pittinger, from Chillicothe, will call for the dancers from Pickaway, Ross and Fayette Counties when they turn to the square dances.

Equipment Shoplifted From Store

Over $200 in communications equipment was taken from Schreiner Photographs last week, according to owner Ned Schreiner, who believes the items may have been shoplifted.

Stolen merchandise included a Craig electronic notebook valued at $149.95 and a Craig compact portable recorder valued at $69.95.

Schreiner told Circleville Police that the notebook may have been taken last Wednesday or Thursday and the recorder was probably taken Thursday or Friday.

Thieves took a spare Uniroyal wheel and tire from a 1975 model half-ton truck parked in the lost across from Munday Pontiac, Inc., 520 E. Main St.

Mundy manager Bill Mundy told police that the theft probably occurred Friday.

The 78 by 15 wheel and tire are valued at $80.

James Brown, Manonga, W. Va., told police that thieves entered his mobile home, which was parked in front of the Second National Bank, last night to take a shotgun.

The Winchester single-shot .410 weapon was kept in a brown, leather case. It is valued at $50.

Would-be shoplifters were frightened from the Buckeye Mart, 201 Lancaster Pike, Monday afternoon by a customer, who apparently caught them in the act of stealing a pair of pants.

The incident was reported to manager Randy Anderson.

Employes search the store following the incident and found that seven suede jackets had been placed inside a plastic garbage can.

Knievel Raps Criticism

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP)—Motorcycle stunt driver Evel Kneival, in reply to a congressional critic, said that boys who try to emulate him are in no more danger than those who pretend to be O.J. Simpson, A.J. Foyt or Muhammad Ali.

Kneival, who will jump his motorcycle over 14 Greyhound buses at Kings Island Amusement Park Oct. 25, said he was "very hurt" at U.S. Rep. John P. Murphy, D-N.Y., for proposing that Congress intervene "to keep my jump from being televised by ABC Televison. He has expressed concern for the safety of our nation's youth who ride motorcycles and bicycles."

Knievel accused Murphy of trying to deprive Knievel of his livelihood.

Knievel, who failed to jump over 13 buses in England and was injured, said the 151 foot jump would be his last of this distance.

"It is time to bring an end to jumping so far. No one can keep going forever.

"But I am going to keep jumping and riding and I am going to keep working for safety. I want to stress to every young boy that I am a professional life risker and daredevil."

Kneivel offered to meet with Murphy to work out a safety program for motorcyclists.

The amusement park is building a 70,000-seat temporary arena for the event. Officials claimed it to be the largest temporary arena ever built.

A recording of the voice of famed old-time Indian football star Jim Thorpe can be heard at Canton's Football Hall of Fame in Ohio.

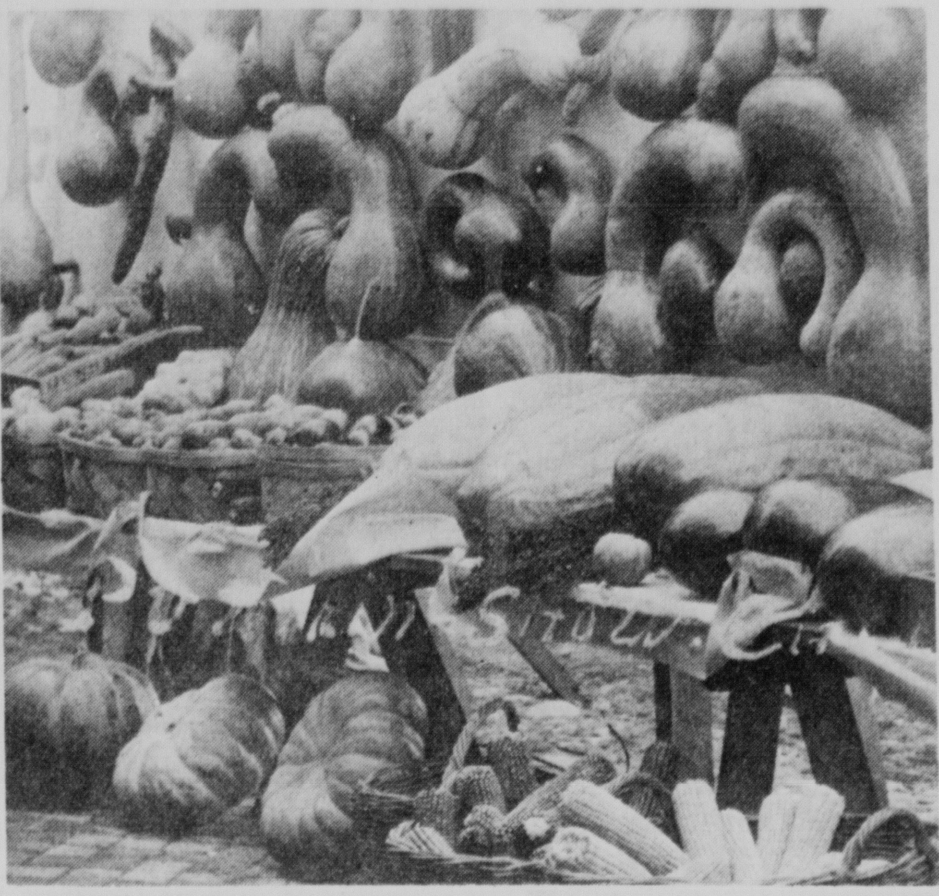
REVELATIONS QUARTET—The Revelations I Quartet, with featured singer Kristina Claypool, return to the Pumpkin Show entertainment lineup for the second year, 6:15 p.m. Wednesday and Friday at the West Main Street stage to present a gospel music program. In existence for over 11 years, the group consists of Jack Lemon, lead; Beverly Myers, alto; Bob Higgins, baritone and Floyd Claypool, bass. Virgie Wean is the accompanist. A Pickaway County organization, the group has performed at various churches and festivals.



GOURD DISPLAY—This photo, taken about 1911, shows quite a variety of gourds grown in the area that year. The display was located on South Court street, near the present Scioto Building and Loan Building.

Largest Pumpkin Contest May Have Record-Breaker

Defending champion Ralph Dreisbach, who last year stunned Pumpkin Show officials by displaying the largest-ever squash, will be out to defend his title this year.

Dreisbach, who had been trying for 15 years to become the King of Pumpkin growers, succeeded in 1974 with a 368-pound Red Hungarian squash that was claimed, by Pumpkin Show officials, to be the biggest ever.

In fact, in the World Series of Pumpkins between Circleville and Half Moon Bay, Calif., Dreisbach's winner humiliated the 131-pounder California entry.

The previous record for a Pumpkin Show squash was a 337½ pound entry in 1971.

New director of the event for Pumpkin Show, Red Wilson, expects growers to challenge the record this year.

Wilson replaces Clarence Radcliffe, who directed the competition since 1956.

Last year's exhibits also established other "firsts." The display was moved from Main St. to N. Court St., where it will remain, and new stands were constructed for the pumpkins, gourds, and squash.

Local growers, besides vying for the biggest entry, will also receive prize money through four places for the variety of pumpkins, gourds and squash.

In addition, a ribbon and trophy will be awarded for the best of show in each division of the Red and Tan Pumpkin classes.

Any grower displaying 50 or more pumpkins or squash and not receiving a prize in any category will receive a $5 consolation award.

Entries will be made on Tuesday and the display will be protected until 10 a.m. Saturday.

Working Policeman Donates Kidney

CHICAGO (AP) — Patrolman Michael Ncoletti of the Chicago Police Force passed the seventh anniversary of his kidney transplant Aug. 2. It was also his daughter's fourth birthday.

Nicoletti, 45, is a patrolman with the corporation counsel's office. He is on light duty, serving summonses, warrants and notices of building code violations.

In 1968, after a year and a half on an artificial kidney, he received a cadaver kidney transplant at the University of Chicago's Billings Hospital. He is one of the most successful cadaver kidney transplant recipients in the Chicago area, according to Dr. Frank P. Stuart, University of Chicago transplant surgeon.

Patrolman Nicoletti has worked steadily since transplantation. He had one small rejection episode two weeks after transplantation, which was reversed with medicine, says Dr. Stuart.

He and his wife had two boys. A hoped-for baby girl was born Aug. 2, 1971, the third anniversary of the kidney transplant.

The death rate among kidney recipients who reject the donor organ has been 28.2 per cent but this had dropped to only 5 per cent at the University of Chicago, Dr. Stuart said.

He said that victims of severe head wounds whose brains have ceased functioning are the source of most donated cadaver kidneys. The kidneys can be removed before the heart stops, supplying kidney transplants for two persons. Some persons arrange to donate their kidneys, in advance of death.

Petting On Tap For Friday Afternoon Pumpkin Parade

The Circleville Kiwanis Club will again sponsor the annual Pet Parade during the 1975 Pumpkin Show.

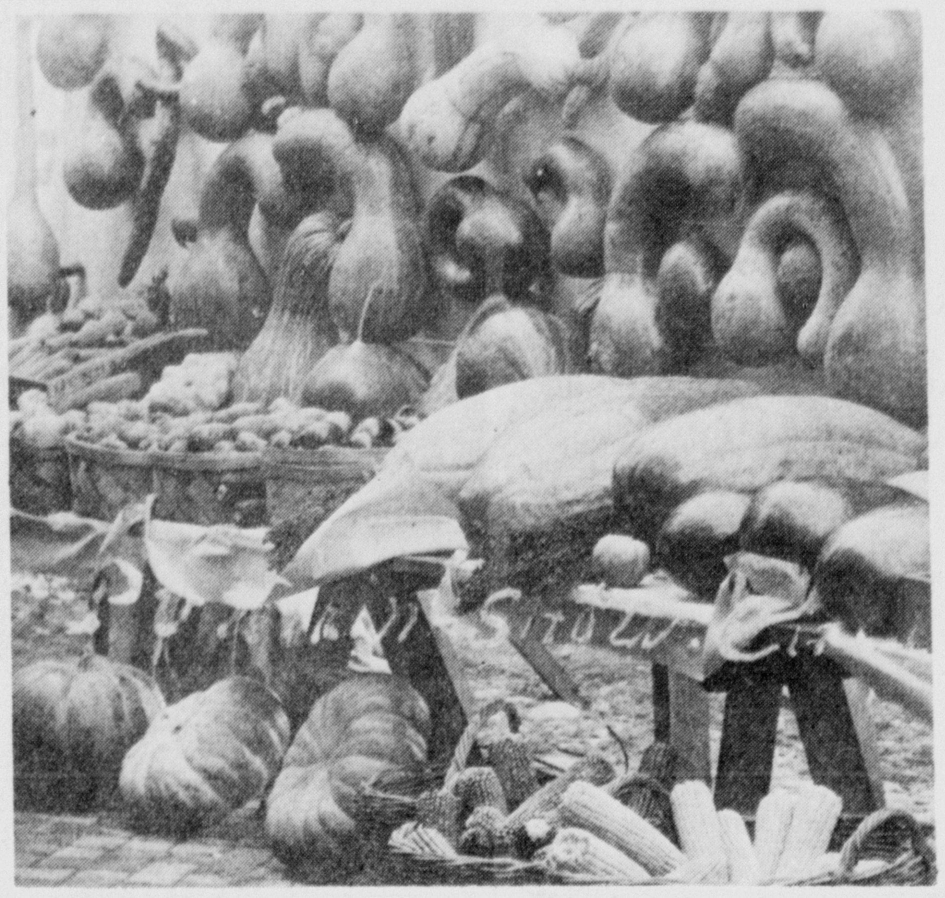
REVELATIONS QUARTET—The Revelations I Quartet, with featured singer Kristina Claypool, return to the Pumpkin Show entertainment lineup for the second year, 6:15 p.m. Wednesday and Friday at the West Main Street stage to present a gospel music program. In existence for over 11 years, the group consists of Jack Lemon, lead; Beverly Myers, alto; Bob Higgins, baritone and Floyd Claypool, bass. Virgie Wean is the accompanist. A Pickaway County organization, the group has performed at various churches and festivals.



GOURD DISPLAY—This photo, taken about 1911, shows quite a variety of gourds grown in the area that year. The display was located on South Court street, near the present Scioto Building and Loan Building.

Largest Pumpkin Contest May Have Record-Breaker

Defending champion Ralph Dreisbach, who last year stunned Pumpkin Show officials by displaying the largest-ever squash, will be out to defend his title this year.

Dreisbach, who had been trying for 15 years to become the King of Pumpkin growers, succeeded in 1974 with a 368-pound Red Hungarian squash that was claimed, by Pumpkin Show officials, to be the biggest ever.

In fact, in the World Series of Pumpkins between Circleville and Half Moon Bay, Calif., Dreisbach's winner humiliated the 131-pounder California entry.

The previous record for a Pumpkin Show squash was a 337½ pound entry in 1971.

New director of the event for Pumpkin Show, Red Wilson, expects growers to challenge the record this year.

Wilson replaces Clarence Radcliffe, who directed the competition since 1956.

Last year's exhibits also established other "firsts." The display was moved from Main St. to N. Court St., where it will remain, and new stands were constructed for the pumpkins, gourds, and squash.

Local growers, besides vying for the biggest entry, will also receive prize money through four places for the variety of pumpkins, gourds and squash.

In addition, a ribbon and trophy will be awarded for the best of show in each division of the Red and Tan Pumpkin classes.

Any grower displaying 50 or more pumpkins or squash and not receiving a prize in any category will receive a $5 consolation award.

Entries will be made on Tuesday and the display will be protected until 10 a.m. Saturday.

Working Policeman Donates Kidney

CHICAGO (AP) — Patrolman Michael Ncoletti of the Chicago Police Force passed the seventh anniversary of his kidney transplant Aug. 2. It was also his daughter's fourth birthday.

Nicoletti, 45, is a patrolman with the corporation counsel's office. He is on light duty, serving summonses, warrants and notices of building code violations.

In 1968, after a year and a half on an artificial kidney, he received a cadaver kidney transplant at the University of Chicago's Billings Hospital. He is one of the most successful cadaver kidney transplant recipients in the Chicago area, according to Dr. Frank P. Stuart, University of Chicago transplant surgeon.

Patrolman Nicoletti has worked steadily since transplantation. He had one small rejection episode two weeks after transplantation, which was reversed with medicine, says Dr. Stuart.

He and his wife had two boys. A hoped-for baby girl was born Aug. 2, 1971, the third anniversary of the kidney transplant.

The death rate among kidney recipients who reject the donor organ has been 28.2 per cent but this had dropped to only 5 per cent at the University of Chicago, Dr. Stuart said.

He said that victims of severe head wounds whose brains have ceased functioning are the source of most donated cadaver kidneys. The kidneys can be removed before the heart stops, supplying kidney transplants for two persons. Some persons arrange to donate their kidneys, in advance of death.

Pumpkin Bread Vying With Pie For Leading Role In Recipes

Pumpkin pies and Jack-o-lanterns have been for hundreds of years the most popular uses for the King of the Pumpkin Show. In recent years pumpkin bread is gaining in popularity with queens of the culinary department in many homes. Its versatility and usually one one-dish mixing method makes it one of the convenience foods popular in today's society.

A variety of recipes have been garnered from many sources in the hope of pleasing the palates of Pickaway Countains and neighbors.

PUMPKIN BREAD

Sift together 1½ cups regular flour, 1¼ cup light brown sugar, 1 tsp. baking soda, ½ tsp. nutmeg, ½ tsp. cinnamon, ¼ tsp. salt. Mix well and set aside.

Combine 2 eggs slightly beaten, ½ cup cooking oil, 1-3 cup water, 1 cup canned pumpkin and 1 tsp. vanilla. Mix well, add dry ingredients, blend thoroughly. Spoon into greased 9x5x3 loaf pan and sprinkle nuts over top (½ cup walnuts or pecans). Bake at 350 degrees for 60-75 minutes or until done.

DATE NUT PUMPKIN BREAD

1 cup butter
1½ cup sugar
4 eggs
2 cups pumpkin
1 8-ounce pkg. diced dates
½ cup raisins
3 cups sifted flour
1 tsp salt
2 tsp baking powder
1 tbsp cinnamon
1 cup chopped pecans

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each. Add pumpkin, mix well. Sift flour, salt, baking powder and cinnamon. Add to pumpkin mixture, beat well. Add dates, raisins and pecans. Mix well until dispersed through the mixture. Bake at 325 degrees in two 8x5x3 pans until done.

PUMPKIN BREAD

2 cups white sugar
2-3 cup margarine
Add 4 eggs, beaten
2 cups pumpkin
2-3 cup water, mix well
Add 3 1-3 cups flour
½ tsp. baking powder
2 tsp. soda
1½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. cloves
2-3 cup raisins or dates
2-3 cup ground nuts

Grease and flour two loaf pans. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

PUMPKIN BREAD

3½ cups unsifted flour
2 tsp. baking soda
1½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. nutmeg
3 cups sugar
1 can (1 pound solid-pack pumpkin about 2 cups)
1 cup corn oil
2-3 cup water
4 eggs

Grease and flour three 1-pound tall coffee cans.

In a large mixing bowl thoroughly stir together the flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add the sugar and stir well again.

In a medium mixing bowl gently beat together together the pumpkin, corn oil and water; add eggs, one at a time, bearing well after each addition.

Make a well in center of flour mixture. Add pumpkin mixture and stir just until flour is moistened.

Turn into prepared coffee cans, filling to cover second ridge or mark on cans.

Bake in preheated 350 degree oven until cake tester inserted comes out clean - 1 hour.

Makes three loaves.

PUMPKIN QUICK BREAD

1½ cups unsifted flour
¼ tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
¾ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon
1-8 tsp. cloves
¾ cup sugar
1-3 cup salad (not olive) oil
2 eggs
1 cup cooked solid-packed pumpkin
½ cup finely chopped walnuts
¼ cup finely cut pitted dates

On wax paper thoroughly stir together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and cloves.

In a medium mixing bowl beat together the sugar and oil until blended. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add pumpkin, a spoonful at a time, beating until smooth.

Add flour mixture and water; stir just until dry ingredients are almost moistened. Add walnuts and dates; stir just until dry ingredients are completely moistened.

Turn into a well greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches.) Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean, about 1 hour.

With a small spatula loosen edges and turn out on wire rack; turn right side up, cool.

Serve warm or cold with butter.

PUMPKIN DATE CAKE

Mix 2-3 cups chopped nuts with 1-3 cup flour (sifted.) In separate bowl mix two cups flour, 2 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. pumpkin pie spice, ½ tsp. baking soda, ½ tsp. salt and 1¼ cup granulated sugar. Add ½ cup shortening, 1 tsp. molasses and ¾ cup milk.

Beat two minutes, then add two eggs and 1 cup cooked pumpkin. Add flour, dates and nut mixture. Mix well. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes.

TRY NEW TASTE WITH LEMON SAUCE

1 cup sugar
¼ cup flour
2 cups boiling water
2 tbsp. lemon juice
2 tsp. grated lemon rind
¼ cup butter

Sift together flour and sugar and add boiling water gradually, stirring constantly. Simmer mixture about five minutes. Stir in butter or margarine, lemon juice and rind. Continue simmering until mixture thickens. Sauce excellent warm or cold and makes new taste treat for pumpkin cake, muffins etc.

PUMPKIN PIE

1½ cups canned pumpkin
¾ cup sugar
½ tsp. salt
1 to 1¼ tsp. cinnamon
½ to 1 tsp. cinnamon
½ to 1 tsp. ginger
¼ to ½ tsp. each nutmeg, cloves
3 slightly beaten eggs
1¼ cups milk
1 6-oz. can evaporated milk (2-3 cup)
1 9-inch unbaked pastry shell

Thoroughly mix pumpkin, sugar, salt and spices. Blend in eggs, milk and evaporated milk. Pour into pastry shell (crimp edges high.) Bake in hot oven 400 degrees 50 minutes or until knife inserted halfway between center and edge comes out clean. Cool before serving.

GREEN PUMPKIN NOODLES

1 small green pumpkin (about 4 cups)
1 medium onion
3 tbsp. cooking oil
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. paprika
2 cups buttermilk
8 whole allspice
2 tbsp. flour
2 tbsp. sour cream

Core and peel one small green pumpkin. Cut into long thin strips like noodles (about 4 cups.) Cook one medium onion in oil until tender. Add to onion ½ tsp. paprika, 1 tsp. salt, pumpkin, 2 cups buttermilk and 8 whole allspice. Cook until pumpkin is tender. Thicken liquid with 2 tbsp. flour and 3 tbsp. sour cream. Serve hot with any kind of meat. This may also be canned for winter use.

PUMPKIN SOUP WITH SPICY DUMPLINGS

½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon enriched flour
1 can (1 lb., 14 ozs.) pumpkin
2 cans (13¾ ozs. each) condensed chicken broth
2 cups milk
1 tablespoon pumpkin pie spice
2 tablespoons dried chives

In large saucepan cook onion in butter until soft. Stir in flour. Gradually blend in pumpkin, chicken broth, milk, pie spice and chives. Heat to simmering, stirring constantly. Drop Spicy Dumplings by rounded tablespoonfulls into simmering soup. Cover and steam 15 minutes. Uncover; cook 5 minutes longer. Serve hot.

Spicy Dumplings:
1¼ cups enriched self-rising flour
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 egg, beaten
1-3 to ½ cup milk
2 tablespoons oil
¼ cup chopped nuts

Stir flour and curry powder. Combine egg, 1-3 cup milk, oil and nuts. Add liquid all at once to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. If necessary, add more milk to moisten flour.

Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop. NOTE: If all-purpose flour is used, add 2 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt.

PUMPKIN PRESERVES

5 pounds pumpkin
4 pounds sugar
3 lemons, thinly sliced
1 orange, thinly sliced
Salt

Remove peal; cut raw pumpkin in slices ¼ inch thick and about 1 inch long. Place in large crock or enamel kettle. Add sugar and let stand overnight. Drain pumpkin from liquid.

Boil liquid until it spins a thin thread, about 245 degrees on a candy thermometer. Add pumpkin pieces, lemon and orange slices and a few grains of salt.

Continue cooking until thick and clear. Remove from heat and ladle immediately into hot jelly or canning jars. Fill to within 1-8 inch of top; screw cap on evenly and tightly. Invert for a few seconds and stand jars upright to cool.

Makes about eight 8-ounce jars.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2-3 cup brown sugar (packed)
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. ginger
3 egg yolks
½ cup milk
3 egg whites
¼ tsp. cream of tartar
½ cup sugar
1¼ cup mashed cooked or canned pumpkin

Blend gelatin, brown sugar, salt, spices, pumpkin, egg yolks and milk in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat stirring constantly until it boils. Place pan in cold water; cool mixture until slight mounds form when dropped from a spoon. Fold into a meringue of egg whites, cream of tartar and sugar. Pour into cooled Ginger Cooky Crust, which follows. Chill until set for two hours, then garnish with whipped cream.

PUMPKIN FUDGE

2 cups sugar
2 tbsp. pumpkin
¼ tsp. cornstarch
¼ tsp. pumpkin pie spice
½ cup Carnation milk
½ tsp. vanilla

Cook together sugar, pumpkin, cornstarch, spice, and milk until it forms a soft ball when dropped in cold water. Add vanilla and cool. Beat until creamy. Pour onto a buttered plate and cut into small squares when nearly cool.

Pumpkin Cake

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
4 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 cup vegetable oil
2 cups pumpkin

Sift first 4 ingredients together; set aside. Beat eggs and sugar together; add oil. Beat well. Add flour mixture; beat well. Add pumpkin; beat well.

Pour into greased and lightly floured 13 x 9 x 2 pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes (or until tooth-pick stuck in center of cake comes out clean).

Spread top with butter frosting (recipe below).

Butter Frosting

¼ cup soft margarine
2 cups confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons cream or milk.

Stir all ingredients together until it is of spreading consistency. Additional drops of milk or cream may be added if necessary.

This recipe will cover the top of a 13 x 9 cake.

(Published for the convenience of those who have volunteered to bake cakes for Pumpkin Show dinners.)

1 tablespoon pumpkin pie spice
2 tablespoons dried chives

In large saucepan cook onion in butter until soft. Stir in flour. Gradually blend in pumpkin, chicken broth, milk, pie spice and chives. Heat to simmering, stirring constantly. Drop Spicy Dumplings by rounded tablespoonfulls into simmering soup. Cover and steam 15 minutes. Uncover; cook 5 minutes longer. Serve hot.

Spicy Dumplings:
1¼ cups enriched self-rising flour
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 egg, beaten
1-3 to ½ cup milk
2 tablespoons oil
¼ cup chopped nuts

Stir flour and curry powder. Combine egg, 1-3 cup milk, oil and nuts. Add liquid all at once to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. If necessary, add more milk to moisten flour.

Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop. NOTE: If all-purpose flour is used, add 2 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt.

PUMPKIN PRESERVES

5 pounds pumpkin
4 pounds sugar
3 lemons, thinly sliced
1 orange, thinly sliced
Salt

Remove peal; cut raw pumpkin in slices ¼ inch thick and about 1 inch long. Place in large crock or enamel kettle. Add sugar and let stand overnight. Drain pumpkin from liquid.

Boil liquid until it spins a thin thread, about 245 degrees on a candy thermometer. Add pumpkin pieces, lemon and orange slices and a few grains of salt.

Continue cooking until thick and clear. Remove from heat and ladle immediately into hot jelly or canning jars. Fill to within 1-8 inch of top; screw cap on evenly and tightly. Invert for a few seconds and stand jars upright to cool.

Makes about eight 8-ounce jars.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2-3 cup brown sugar (packed)
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. ginger
3 egg yolks
½ cup milk
3 egg whites
¼ tsp. cream of tartar
½ cup sugar
1¼ cup mashed cooked or canned pumpkin

Blend gelatin, brown sugar, salt, spices, pumpkin, egg yolks and milk in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat stirring constantly until it boils. Place pan in cold water; cool mixture until slight mounds form when dropped from a spoon. Fold into a meringue of egg whites, cream of tartar and sugar. Pour into cooled Ginger Cooky Crust, which follows. Chill until set for two hours, then garnish with whipped cream.

PUMPKIN FUDGE

2 cups sugar
2 tbsp. pumpkin
¼ tsp. cornstarch
¼ tsp. pumpkin pie spice
½ cup Carnation milk
½ tsp. vanilla

Cook together sugar, pumpkin, cornstarch, spice, and milk until it forms a soft ball when dropped in cold water. Add vanilla and cool. Beat until creamy. Pour onto a buttered plate and cut into small squares when nearly cool.

Pumpkin Cake

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
4 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 cup vegetable oil
2 cups pumpkin

Sift first 4 ingredients together; set aside. Beat eggs and sugar together; add oil. Beat well. Add flour mixture; beat well. Add pumpkin; beat well.

Pour into greased and lightly floured 13 x 9 x 2 pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes (or until tooth-pick stuck in center of cake comes out clean).

Spread top with butter frosting (recipe below).

Butter Frosting

¼ cup soft margarine
2 cups confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons cream or milk.

Stir all ingredients together until it is of spreading consistency. Additional drops of milk or cream may be added if necessary.

This recipe will cover the top of a 13 x 9 cake.

Missionaries To Speak At First CCCU

Rev. Erwin and Naomi Patricio, members of the Papago Indian Tribe, will speak 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the First Church of Christ in Christian Union, 436 E. Ohio St.

The Patricios work at Southwest Indian School located near Phoenix, Arizona. The school is sponsored by World Gospel Mission, an interdenominational sending agency with 300 missionaries, associate missionaries, and homeland staff, serving in fifteen areas of the world. International headquarters is in Marion, Indiana.

In 1961, shortly after their marriage in San Francisco, the Patricios returned to the Papago Reservation in Arizona.

The Patricios were trained in the Nazarene Bible School, Albuquerque, New Mexico. While there, they conducted numerous revival meetings in Indian churches throughout the Southwest. After graduation, May 1973, they accepted the pastorate of an Indian church on the Navajo Reservation. Within six months, the attendance of the church had grown more than 100 per cent, and many of the people were converted.

While the Patricios were pastoring this Navajo church, God spoke to Erwin and assured him that he would preach the Gospel of Christ to many tribes. He observed the tragic condition of Indian teenagers, for which he became increasingly burdened. After much prayer, he and his wife were convinced their ministry would be at Southwest Indian School.

Patricio serves as chaplain of the school and devotes much of his time to counseling. Mrs. Patricio also gives time to counseling, and assists in the kitchen. The Patricios have three children.

Southwest Indian School began operations in 1952. SIS personnel have ministered to young people from 25 Indian tribes. This boarding school offers a sound education in elementary and secondary grades, and students are given spiritual counsel and nurture.

Mini Queen Contest Begins Exciting Week

Originated by the Youth Canteen in 1947, the Little Miss Pumpkin Show parade and contest have gained widespread popularity known to few attractions at the festival.

Since its formation, the mini-queen contest has grown until it draws approximately 130 entrants annually. It has come to be one of the most coveted titles of the show.

The contest is now sponsored by the Circleville Jaycees, with Ed Boyer, again serving as the chairman.

The Little Miss contest kicks off a week of excitement for some lucky girl and her parents. Last year's winner, Tammy Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zimmerman, 430 John St., participated in other area celebrations to promote "the greatest free show on earth."

Scheduled to being at 3 p.m., the Little Miss parade will follow the usual route. Judges for the contest are: Glen Willie, Ohio Jaycees' President; Cheryl Willie, wife of Jaycees President and Marti Bell, St. Petersburg Sun Goddess.

Contestants will gather on Main Street between Pickaway and Washington Streets no later than 2 p.m. Any girl who is a resident of Circleville and Pickaway County trading area and enrolled in the first grade may enter. She must be sponsored by either a business establishment or a school. Each sponsor may have only one contestant.

Twins must have separate sponsors. The sponsor is to provide an automobile, driver and identification.

Community Fund Poster winner Barney Mogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Mogan, Route 4, is a third grade student at Washington Twp. School. It was inadvertently reported that he was a student at Pickaway Twp.

Judge Ammer Elected Grand Warder

Judge William Ammer was elected Grand Warder of the Grand Commandery Knights Templar of Ohio at the annual conclave held Friday in Columbus.

Ammer was installed along with the other Grand Officers by Herbert Rogler of Barberton, Past Grand Commander, Saturday evening following the Commandery banquet.

The Grand Warder is the second office in the ten officer line of the Grand Commandery.

George D. Stein of Cuyahoga Falls was elected Grand Commander for the ensuing year.

After serving as Commander of Scioto Commandery No. 35 in 1963, Ammer was appointed Fourth Division Commander in 1967. He continued in that position until his appointment to the Grand line in 1974 as Grand Sentinel.

Judge Ammer has served as presiding officer of the four local Masonic bodies. He is presently County Director, Valley of Columbus, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite. He is a member of Ohio Priory No. 18, Knights of the York Cross of Honor and a past District Deputy Grand High Priest, Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons.

efforts and our tax money into creating a more just society rather than snooping on citizens who differ with them, America would be impregnable."

A source who had seen the NSA summaries provided to the CIA said they were derived from intercepts of cable and telephone traffic between the U.S. and foreign countries or between two points overseas.

None of the sources could give a reliable estimate of the number of persons whose communications were intercepted. However, comments of several sources indicated the CIA gave at least 40 names to the NSA.

In another development, a former Pentagon investigator said Monday he was told by the White House to develop evidence that syndicated columnist Jack Anderson had a homosexual relationship with a suspected news source, Navy Yeoman Charles Radford.

W. Donald Stewart, who was in charge of the investigation into news leaks, said the demand was made on Dec. 23, 1971, by David Young, then the Nixon administration official in charge of the White House "plumbers" unit.

Stewart stressed that Young did not suggest to him that he fabricate a homosexual relationship between Anderson and Radford.

"They didn't want me to go trump up anything," Stewart said. "They wanted me to go interview (Radford) and ask him, 'Do you have any homosexual relationship with Jack Anderson?'"

Stewart said he refused Young's demand, telling him it "was not germane to the investigation." According to Stewart, Young responded, "Well, the President wants this done, the President wants this done."

"I told him no, I wouldn't do it," Stewart said. "If he wanted it done get somebody else."

Community Fund Poster winner Barney Mogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Mogan, Route 4, is a third grade student at Washington Twp. School. It was inadvertently reported that he was a student at Pickaway Twp.

Judge Ammer Elected Grand Warder

Judge William Ammer was elected Grand Warder of the Grand Commandery Knights Templar of Ohio at the annual conclave held Friday in Columbus.

Ammer was installed along with the other Grand Officers by Herbert Rogler of Barberton, Past Grand Commander, Saturday evening following the Commandery banquet.

The Grand Warder is the second office in the ten officer line of the Grand Commandery.

George D. Stein of Cuyahoga Falls was elected Grand Commander for the ensuing year.

After serving as Commander of Scioto Commandery No. 35 in 1963, Ammer was appointed Fourth Division Commander in 1967. He continued in that position until his appointment to the Grand line in 1974 as Grand Sentinel.

Judge Ammer has served as presiding officer of the four local Masonic bodies. He is presently County Director, Valley of Columbus, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite. He is a member of Ohio Priory No. 18, Knights of the York Cross of Honor and a past District Deputy Grand High Priest, Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons.

efforts and our tax money into creating a more just society rather than snooping on citizens who differ with them, America would be impregnable."

A source who had seen the NSA summaries provided to the CIA said they were derived from intercepts of cable and telephone traffic between the U.S. and foreign countries or between two points overseas.

None of the sources could give a reliable estimate of the number of persons whose communications were intercepted. However, comments of several sources indicated the CIA gave at least 40 names to the NSA.

In another development, a former Pentagon investigator said Monday he was told by the White House to develop evidence that syndicated columnist Jack Anderson had a homosexual relationship with a suspected news source, Navy Yeoman Charles Radford.

W. Donald Stewart, who was in charge of the investigation into news leaks, said the demand was made on Dec. 23, 1971, by David Young, then the Nixon administration official in charge of the White House "plumbers" unit.

Stewart stressed that Young did not suggest to him that he fabricate a homosexual relationship between Anderson and Radford.

"They didn't want me to go trump up anything," Stewart said. "They wanted me to go interview (Radford) and ask him, 'Do you have any homosexual relationship with Jack Anderson?'"

Stewart said he refused Young's demand, telling him it "was not germane to the investigation." According to Stewart, Young responded, "Well, the President wants this done, the President wants this done."

"I told him no, I wouldn't do it," Stewart said. "If he wanted it done get somebody else."

SINGERS TO PERFORM—Danny Ray and the Takers, Country-Western Singers will provide 30 minutes of musical entertainment beginning 4:30 p.m. Friday at the West Main Street stage.

Industrial Parade Featured In 1925 Pumpkin Show

The Joseph Clothing Company took first place in the 1925 Pumpkin Show's magnificant industrial parade. First prize for the float was $25. Second place in the parade was taken by the Pickaway County Lumber Company.

Crowds jammed the streets, hotels and eating places to see the 1925 edition of the great show. Pumpkin Show authorities boasted that this year people were being attracted from all over the country.

There were 75 (that's two and a half times as many as 1924) entries from the Boys' and Girls' Pig Club.

In the open class of the swine display, the Palm family, Russell and C. W. Palm, carried off all the prizes on their entries of Poland China Hogs. They were the only growers of this kind of hog exhibited.

The poultry section, under the supervision of L. T. Shaner, was an immense show. Taking many of the first place prizes were Elza R. Fausnaugh, Mrs. J. E. Pherson and James Swearingen.

The second day of the 1925 Pumpkin Show went down as having the largest attendance of any previous entertainment. Roads leading to Circleville were lined with "gas propelled" vehicles but parking places were found for all who came. The traction line from Columbus was filled to capacity. Crowds were eager to see the live exhibits in the grand show in Roundtown.

Seventy-five entrants waited in line to vie for the various titles and prizes to be awarded in the baby parade.

Gloria Ruth Reid was hailed as the prettiest white baby under the age of one year. Taking second place in the division was Helen V. Compton. Lloyd Spangler and Sarah Willoughby took third and fourth prizes respectively.

Jack Storts, Lloyd Jonnes Jr., Donald Bowman, and Betty Jane Clifton took the top four premiums in the baby contest for one to two-year-old entrants.

Two to three-year-olds were heralded by Junior Conkel, Daniel Kelson DeLong, Norma Jean Brown and Donald Jenkins taking the top four slots.

Prettiest set of twins in the contest was Gale and Dale McKinley, followed in second place by Lillian and Lucille Lane.

Catherine Leto Viney was lauded as the prettiest colored baby under the age of one year. Taking second place in that division was Walter Jones Jr.

Gerald Foster Mosley was the prettiest colored baby between the ages of one and two. Eldon Henry, the only entrant in the colored class between the ages of two and three, was awarded the first place prize.

The 1925 show went down in history as the wettest, but even so, officials lauded it better than the year before. A dampening effect was witnessed toward the end of the baby parade.

Gerald and Eloise Hanley and Virgil Pontius took first place in the Characterization Division of the baby parade. The trio represented movers from Pumpkin Center.

In 1925, Pickaway County led the state in the heighth of corn, some so high it took stepladders to reach the ears.

Record pumpkins for the year weighed 72 pounds and squashes topped the scales as high as 104 pounds. The show also boasted 15-pound cabbages and 70-pound watermelons.

A whole family could have a meal from one turnip, yam or potato that year since there were specimens of each vegetable weighing eight to ten pounds.

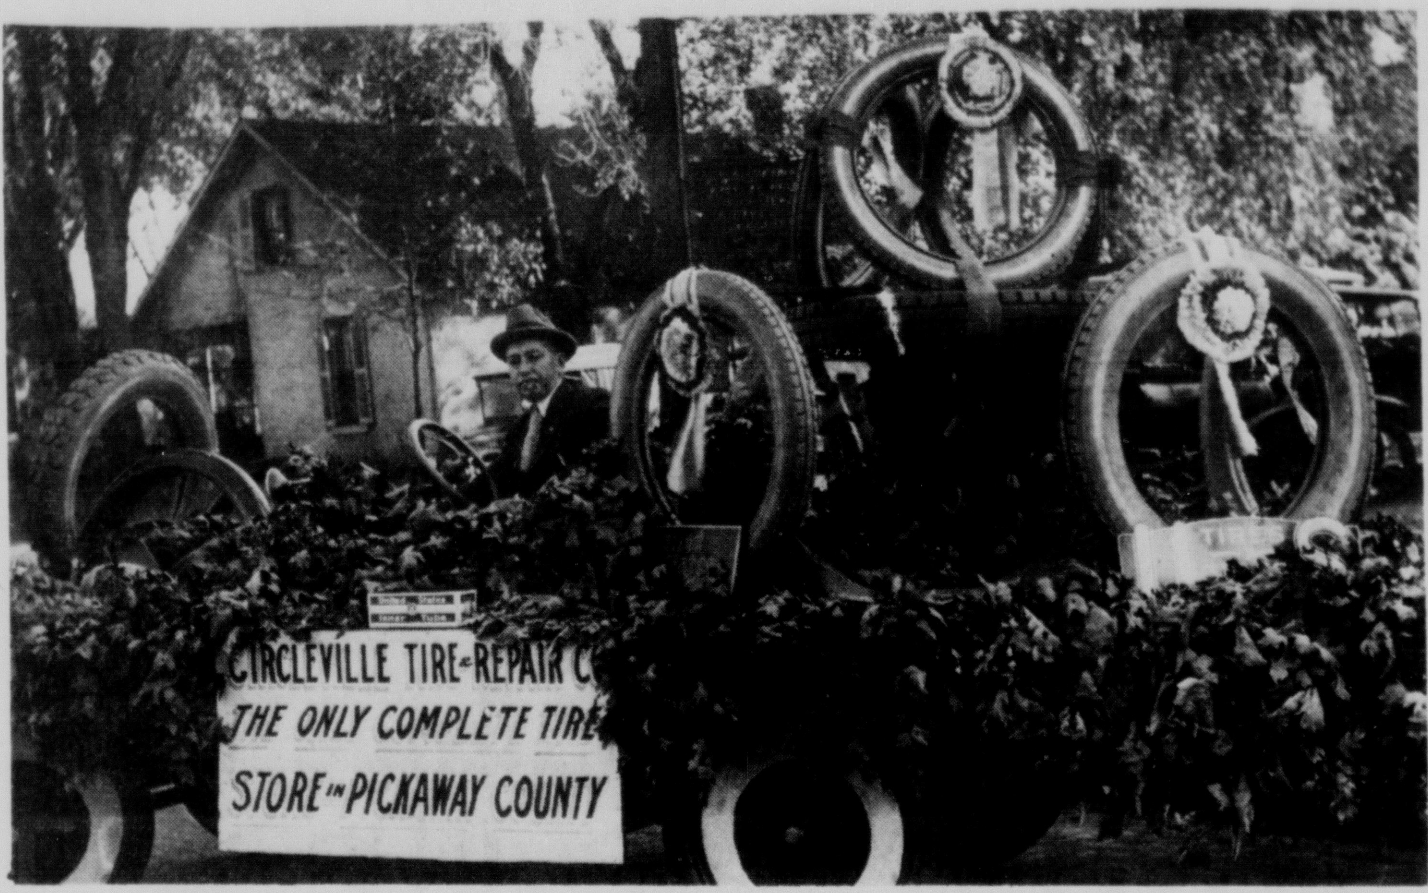
J. Baxter Anderson took the first premium for his display of pumpkins but the first premium for the largest pumpkin of the show went to Henry Dungan. Basil Justus grew the largest squash at 104 pounds.

John Wells had the most in his display, 1,104 pumpkins and squashes.

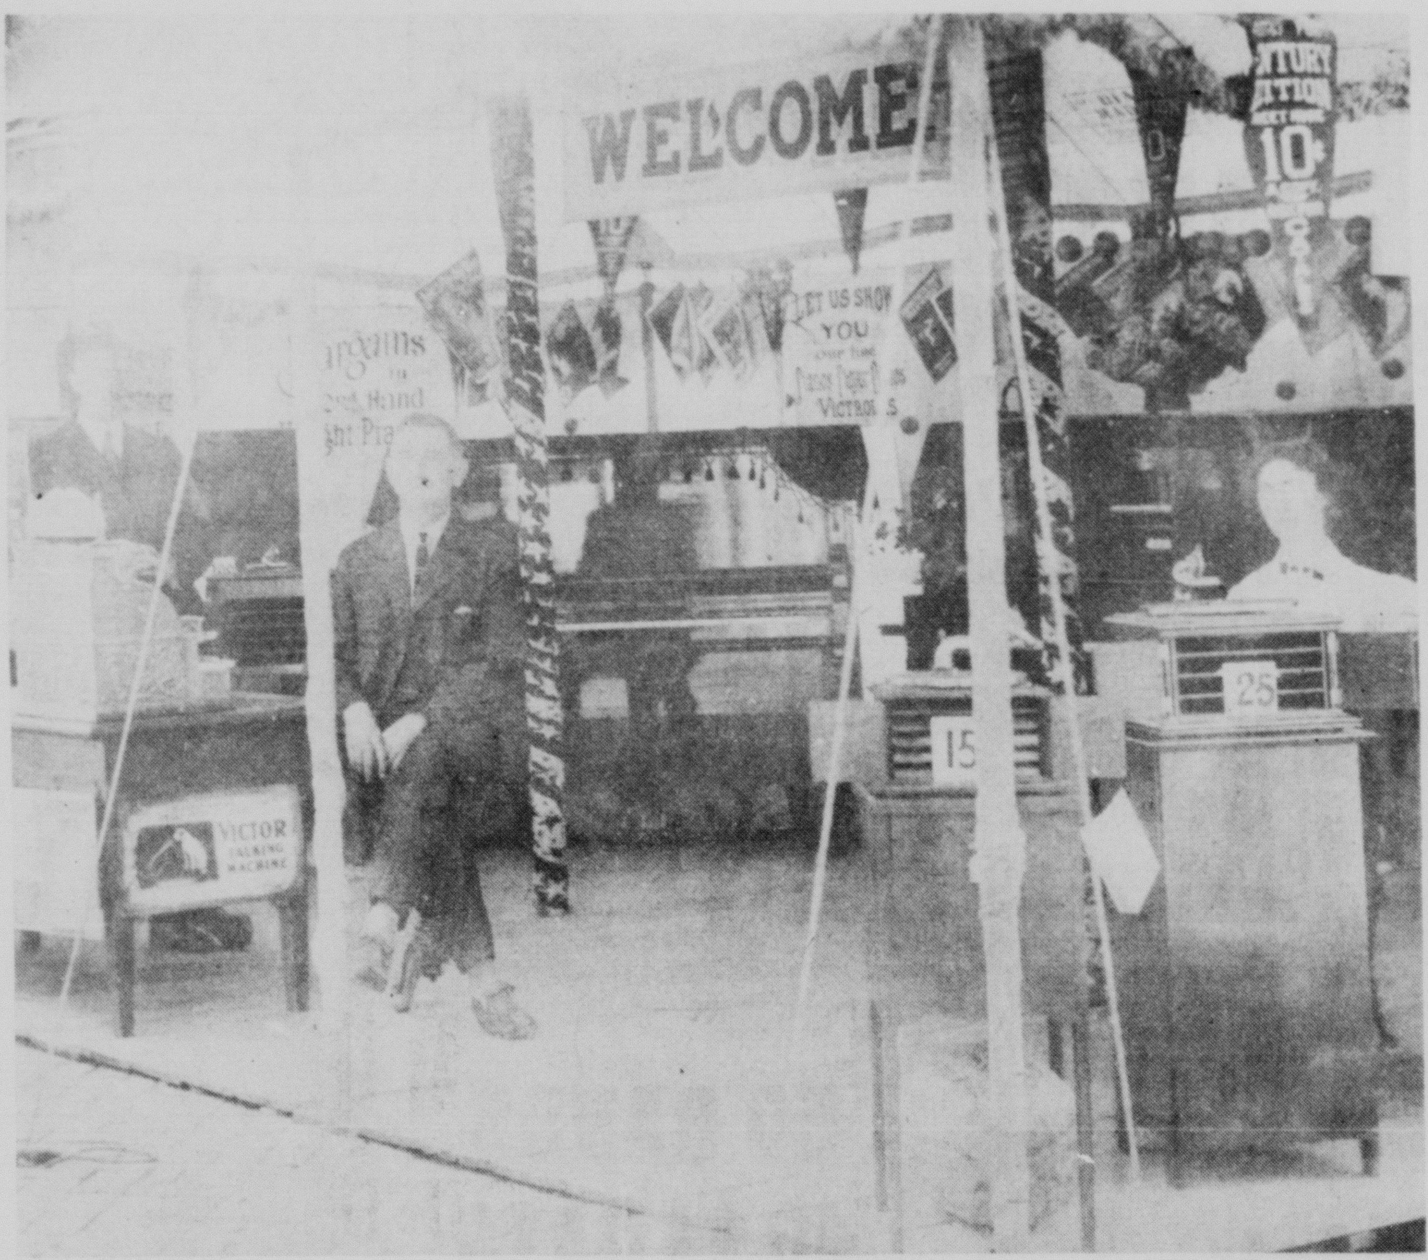
Taking the first place as "typical boy and his pet" was William Robison. The "typical girl" was Harriet McGath. Mabel Young had the novel display of pets and took second place for the most pets.

A final note about the early Pumpkin Shows, they didn't even rate front page coverage in The Herald.

Most of the vital statistics were hidden on the second and third pages. As one can easily see, today's shows rank right up there with state, national and international items. Because in Circleville, the biggest thing going is The Pumpkin Show.



NELSON'S TIRES—Walter Nelson entered this float in an early Pumpkin Show contest to advertise his tire and repair store. Nelson was the father of the late Betty Routzahn and Walter Nelson Jr. At the time of this photo, Nelson's tire store was located at the corner of South Washington and Main Streets. He later moved his operation to the present site of Dr. Goldschmidt's office.



MUSIC DISPLAY—Henry Mader, Carl Seitz and Nellie Denman wait patiently for prospective customers to visit their display in the 1915 Pumpkin Show. The display was sponsored by the Seitz Music Store.

Diphtheria Scare Blasted By 1935 Show Directors

Pumpkin Show officials had to start out the 1935 show by blasting rumors which had declared for weeks that the show would have to be called off due to a diphtheria outbreak.

The sun, which is a convenient but not necessary ingredient in a successful show, came out to please the many visitors.

Now an annual event, the Miss Pumpkin Show contest, was celebrating its third birthday in '35.

Miss Ann Thacher, the 16-year-old farmer's daughter, was selected from 14 candidates to reign over the 1935 Pumpkin Show. As the winner of the coveted crown, she also took home $50 which was vied for by several of her family members. In the end, the new Miss Pumpkin Show said she would spend the money on herself. After all, she had earned it with her talents and beauty.

Front page Herald coverage in '35 had bold black letters declaring the queen was a blonde. Attired in a brown plaid suit, Miss Thacker had no trouble pleasing the three-man panel of judges. She was selected after a single elimination. She stood 5-feet 7-inches tall and weighed 130 pounds. The Pickaway Dairy was the proud sponsor of the winning miss.

As is the tradition which has carried down through the years, the early Miss Pumpkin Shows also presided over the parades. Miss Thacher rode on the Chamber of Commerce's "throne float."

Marvene Wallace who had thrilled Pumpkin Show crowds as a child with her prize winning costumes, was another of the candidates vying for the crown. She was Miss Cliftona.

Another attraction to Pumpkin Show visitors was an invitation to visit the new home of the Herald at 210 N. Court St. Open House was observed on the final day of the show.

Free acts offered in 1935 were considered one of the finest combinations in the history of the show. T. D. Grinn, veteran amusement director of the Pumpkin Show, was given the credit.

The Flying LaVana, a thrilling aeriel casting act, was scheduled for two shows. A. E. Seldon, listed as the "Stratosphere Man" staged two acts on a swaying pole. Other free acts included the accordian artist Marie DuMont, comedy cyclist Silver Thomas, high pole performer Fred Reckless and Earl Hammand and his movie-famous team of Alaskan huskies.

Downtown streets were lined with fire eaters, knife jugglers, snake charmers, glass blowers, freaks, monkey acts, dogs, hillbilly and cowboy bands. The show drew these troupers from the far corners of the state who often stopped by the Pumpkin Show as their last stop before the winter break.

A rare visitor to the Pumpkin Show was a land turtle brought to town by Langley Tisdale, Route 1, Laurelville, farmer. Tisdale pointed out the initials H. P. and S. S. carved on the turtle's back along with the date 1870. He hoped to find someone in the area who knew something about the turtle's strange tatoos.

High praise was given to the popcorn exhibit on West Main Street by Corwin Carr, Washington C.H. expert. He said it was "as good as any state fair display."

Babies, babies, and more babies, there were 132 of them paraded along the midway vying for the top honors as the prettiest. Jimmy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wallace, was again in the running and this year took the first prize as the prettiest baby between one and two years old.

Other pretty babies who attended the 32nd Pumpkin Show were Ronald and Donald Eldridge, the prettiest set of twins up to three years old. Marilyn and Marian Fulton and Lowell and Noell Rader took second and third places respectively.

Robert Peters had the best outfit and Carolyn Weller dressed as an old-fashioned girl took first prize for the best novelty outfit.

Little Dale Allen Rogers rode around the show in what the judges determined as the prettiest and most artistically decorated baby buggy. Elaine Marion, Donald Canter and Ralph Hoffman were also winners in this division.

Quite a change of pace, many said when the 1935 show was over, the weather had been a little too warm. The Lancaster Fair just one week before had suffered greatly because of rainfall but narry a drop fell on the Pumpkin Show visitors.

The 32nd annual show was the first for several years to be scheduled after the Lancaster Fair. Although many sooth sayers had said the Pumpkin Show directors were wrong to change the schedule, the success of the show could not be questioned.

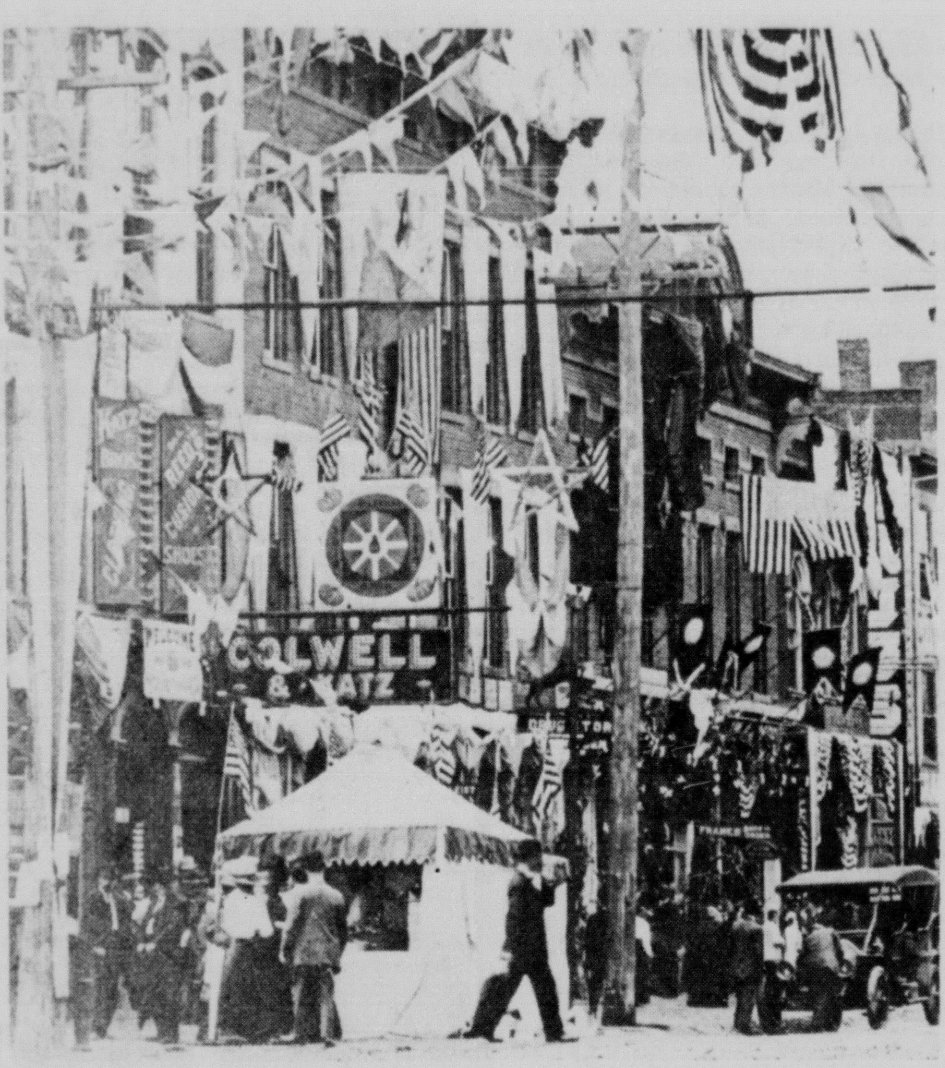
One of the biggest questions in any of the Pumpkin Shows is "how much money is cleared." So it was in 1935, since for the last few years, money had been lost rather than made. The big event in '35, however, broke even. Directors had a few extra expenses but the added attractions had brought more buyers to the show.

The junior fair in the armory was a new feature and had caused a rustle of activity.

Produce displays surpassed other years but due to the bad weather the flower show was just below par.

HABEEBA—A professional belly dancer since 1961, Habeeba, will perform her "Dance of the Arts", 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the West Main Street stage. Seen frequently on television, Habeeba's course has been recently offered at the local YMCA.

The Center of Science and Industry in Columbus, Ohio, houses a Focault pendulum and coal mining exhibits along with a display of mining tools.



CENTENNIAL TIME—In 1910, Circleville was celebrating its 100th year. This photo shows some of the elaborate decorations which were displayed in celebration of the event. The area depicted is near what is now Murphy's back door on South Court Street. At the time, Wittich's Candy Store occupied that spot.

Veterans Honored At 1945 'Victory' Pumpkin Show

After three years of either canceling the Pumpkin how or as in 1944, having just a simple celebration due to the war effort, the Roundtowners were ready for a really big show. The 39th Pumpkin Show was referred to that year as a revival of the merriment which had gone on in years past.

Over 100,000 were expected to turn out to see the festival which was christened "The Victory Show."

A new exhibit, called the Hobby Show, was created and was placed under the direction of Clifford Shook.

The show was announced with the tooting of the factory whistles, sounding of alarms, and the ringing of the church bells at 7 p.m. on the first day.

More than $1,150 had been donated on the first day of the 1945 Pumpkin Show from the local merchants. It was the desire of everybody to make this one the greatest show on earth. All the proceeds from the show were to go to the improvement of Ted Lewis Park.

Seven industrial "concerns" placed exhibits in the industrial tent. E. F. Schlegel, Ashville, placed his fine woodwork in the lobby of the courthouse for the hobby show.

One of the most attention getting displays was the window at Grant's store which had been constructed by the Washington Township School. The window scene depicted a complete farm.

A stir of excitement fell over the pre-Pumpkin Show gatherers when W. A. Duvall backed his truck up to the pumpkin display and unloaded 96 big beauties. He entered his two best specimens in the "largest" division and made an attractive display out of the others.

Other biggies were entered by Ernest Chester, Kingston, and Fred Mavis.

John E. Wolford, son of Samuel Wolford, the carpenter of 344 E. Franklin St., stole the show when he brought in three potatoes weighing six pounds. The largest of the group tipped the scales at two pounds, two ounces.

Pearl Roese of Scioto Township School was crowned Miss Pumpkin Show 1945. Martha Stevenson of Ashville-Harrison High School was selected first runner-up and Phyllis Alexander of Jackson Township School completed the royal trio.

The three were selected from a field of 14 beauties representing the various schools in Pickaway County.

The entire city turned out for the Friday night edition of the '45 show. The night was devoted to honoring the World War II veterans who had just returned home.

A throng of 30,000 gathered to hear six of the finest bands in the state perform. The Elks, Eagles, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars each brought a distinguished band from Columbus to play at the parade of bands.

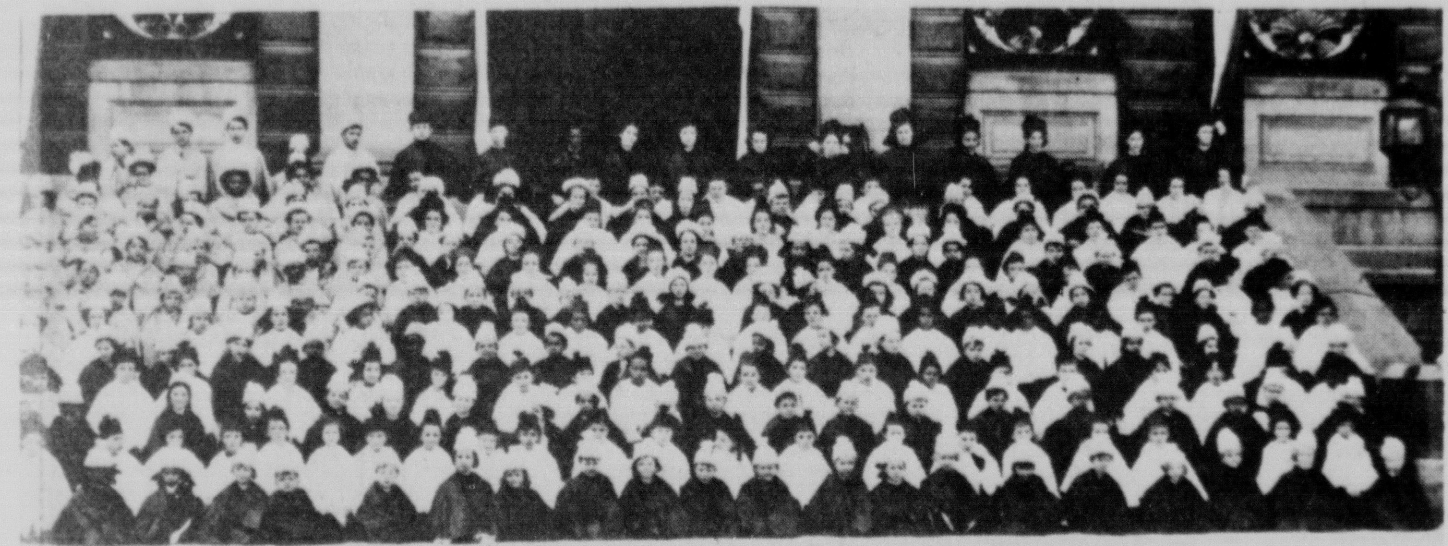
The Liberty Union Band which took first place at the Lancaster Fair was also on hand along with the well-drilled CHS band.

Charles Augustus, the trapeze performer, and Earl Wright and his Hollywood Wonder Dogs headed the free acts offered throughout the show.

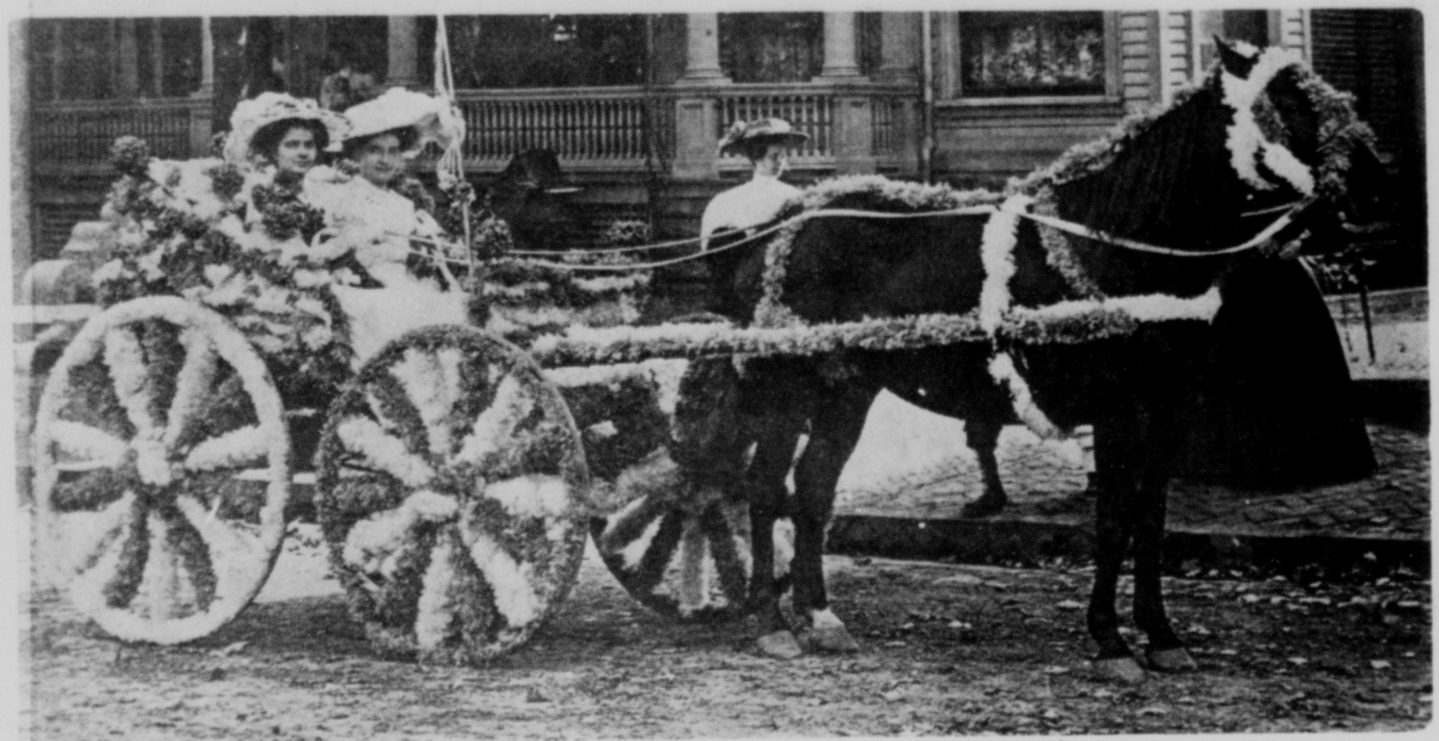
The children in the county did their part to make the revival show a success. Over 200 of the little tykes turned out with their pets for the annual pet parade.

Winners of the most identical twins contests were June and Judy Litten of Ashville, first place; Ann and Sarah Short, Route 3, second place; Marian and Marilyn Fulton, New Holland, third place. Boys taking similar prizes in their division of the contest were Bob and Bill Boyer of Ashville; Ronald and Donald Milliron of Circleville and Ted and Ned Dennis of Ashville.

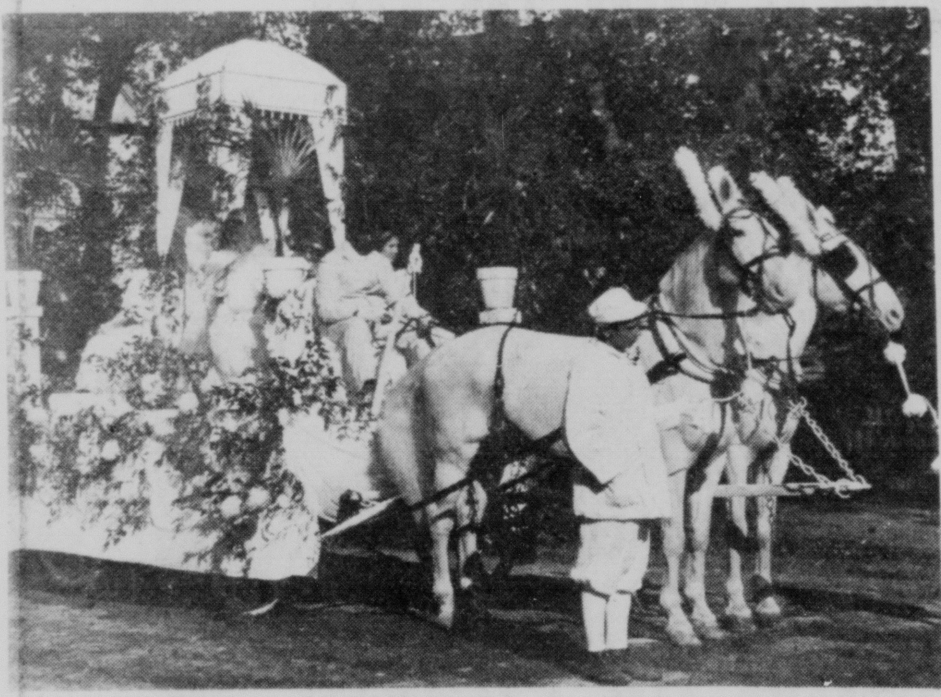
CARTS OF PUMPKINS—Local farmers wait in line to unload their carts of pumpkins at Sears and Nichols Canning factory on Clinton Street.



LIVING FLAG—A group of school children formed a living flag for the Centennial Pumpkin Show in 1910. The colors were formed by the costumes of the youngsters. In 1910, Roundtown celebrated its 100th year, 1810-1910.



ALL DRESSED UP—These ladies, whose names are unknown to us, are all dressed up to attend the 1910 Centennial Pumpkin Show. The photo was taken in front of the old Friedman home on East Mound Street. That house is the Welfare Department today.



FANCY FLOAT—We have no information on this early Pumpkin Show float but thought it was so attractive, our readers would enjoy it too.

Reading Is Top Job Skill

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP) — The average American employe probably spends from one to four hours a day reading material necessary to the performance of his job, according to the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute.

If this employe works 40 hours a week and earns $12,000 a year, he is being paid $2,400 to $6,000 a year just for reading, the institute estimates. On this basis, the institute, which specializes in instruction in new speed-reading techniques, calculates that if such an employe could triple his reading speed he could provide his employer with between $1,600 and $4,000 more productive time each year.

Canter's Cave in Jackson County, Ohio, was named for a veteran of the War of 1812 who lived there for many years.

Veterans Honored At 1945 'Victory' Pumpkin Show

After three years of either canceling the Pumpkin how or as in 1944, having just a simple celebration due to the war effort, the Roundtowners were ready for a really big show. The 39th Pumpkin Show was referred to that year as a revival of the merriment which had gone on in years past.

Over 100,000 were expected to turn out to see the festival which was christened "The Victory Show."

A new exhibit, called the Hobby Show, was created and was placed under the direction of Clifford Shook.

The show was announced with the tooting of the factory whistles, sounding of alarms, and the ringing of the church bells at 7 p.m. on the first day.

1955 Pumpkin Show Set Apart By Many Innovations

Several innovations were planned for the 1955 show to set it apart from previous years. For the first time in Pumpkin Show history, the little miss and the big miss rode on the same float.

Among the dignitaries invited to view the show were Governor of Ohio Frank Lausche, Columbus Mayor M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner and Circleville's Favorite Son, Ted Lewis.

The year was noted for its bountiful harvest so the vegetable displays were exceptional 20 years ago.

Bill Clifton, chairman of the Little Miss Pumpkin Show Contest, announced that 64 little lovelies would vie for the princess title and crown.

Little Sandra Jean Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Stone, 1310 S. Pickaway St., took the top prize as the loveliest. She was attended by Sandra Kuhn and Kathy Martens.

First attendant Miss Kuhn was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Kuhn, 838 S. Clinton St., and Second Attendant Miss Martens was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Martens of near Stoutsville.

The little Miss Pumpkin Show was indeed a beauty with light brown curls. Attending her were a blonde and a redhead.

Bigger titles and bigger flowers were in store for Miss Pumpkin Show, New Holland's entry, Miss Virginia Reisinger. The 16-year-old senior at New Holland School was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Reisinger.

Roberta Lytle, Miss Monroe Township School, was named first attendant to the beauty queen. Saltcreek's representative charmed the judges for the second attendant postition.

Miss Lytle was a 17-year-old brown-eyed blonde and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Lytle, Route 1, Williamsport.

The second attendant was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Radabaugh of Route 1, Kingston.

Just in case anybody ever suspected that Pumpkin Show was designed for people, the 1955 pet parade would have surely put an end to those suspicions. Pets with all types of personalities competed in the annual pet parade with top honors for typical boy and his pet going to Mike Johnson, 333 E. Corwin St., and typical girl and her pet to Martha Thomas, 161 W. Franklin St.

In addition to those precious pups who walked or were carried around the parade route, there were also those lucky ones who rode in extravagantly decorated wagons, mini floats and other contraptions. Some even came to the Pumpkin Show dressed in the latest autumn attire.

With 30 pets in the parade, Sharon Gulick took first prize in the most pets division. She was followed by Carl Zehner with 18 pets and Joseph List with ten.

Larry Carpenter's crow took top honors as the most unusual pet. Also winning prizes in that division were a pig owned by Elizabeth Stonerock and a duck owned by Ray Hamilton.

Elaine Goldschmidt had the best decorated bike in the '55 show and Judy Ankrom exhibited the best pony in the parade.

Dressing her dog in the best finery was Barbara Duddleson of Route 1. Paula Hopkins of Route 2 had the best-dressed cat.

The fall chill was noticable in the air and many Pumpkin Show visitors brought out their heavier coats and jackets for the last night of the big fest.

Autumn Gathering was the theme for Mrs. George Wylie's top winning oil painting displayed in the Art League's Pumpkin Show exhibit displayed at the courthouse. Mrs. Ward Robinson took both first and third place in the watercolor division. Her top entry was entitled "Suddenly a Valley." It was a picture of a man standing on a hill overlooking a valley of multicolored grass and foliage.

Mrs. Wylie's winning work was a vase of various varieties of chrysanthemums. It was also one of the largest pictures displayed.

Alas, no Pumpkin Show is complete without the baby parade. Lancaster's mayor J. Harvey Wein did the judging honors along with TV children's show celebrity Mary Ellen Schott and a Columbus photographer George W. Stewart. Mrs. William McKean of Gallipolis completed the panel assigned the monumental task.

Six sets of twins competed for honors along with several little tots dressed in characterization garb.

The prettiest baby girl under the age of one year was Willa Sue Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Martin, Route 3. The prettiest little boy in the division was Stephen Michael Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weaver, 111½ S. Scioto St.

Taking top honors as the prettiest twins in the area were Marcia Lynn and Tracy Dawn Strawser, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Strawser, Route 4. Second place winners were Teresa and Charlesa Norris, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Norris, 412 E. Main St.

Bruce Presler rode around the parade route in the best decorated stroller.

Always a favorite part of the Pumpkin Show is the costume outfit with the youngster in charge. The winner of the '55 show was David Goodroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodroe, 119 W. Union St. The small boy was dressed in a German costume. Other winners included Danny Crabtree as a little Ted Lewis and Stephen Swank dressed in a football uniform.

The grand champion cake baker of the year was declared Mrs. Marion Mowery of Route 2. Mrs. Bill Lockard won the championship cake prize with the same pumpkin cake recipe that took the honors at the Pumpkin Show one year before.

A new entrant in the age-old contest, Bake-A-Pumpkin-Pie, was the champ in 1955. She was Mrs. John Wright, 129 E. Mound St. The 1955 title went to Mrs. Wright after the bake off. The championship prize was a home freezer presented by Hill Implement Company.

CIRCLEVILLE, O.

PRETTY PAIR—Teresa and Charlesa Norris, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Norris, were among the favorites in both the 1955 and 1956 Pumpkin Show Baby Parades. They placed second 20 years ago in the prettiest pair of twins division of the annual contest. Today, the girls are both employed at the Pickaway County Courthouse. Teresa is a deputy clerk in the clerk of court's office and Charlesa is a deputy clerk in probate court.

FLOWER SHOW, 1949—Mrs. Guy Campbell, director of the 1949 Pumpkin Show Flower Show stands amid the blossoming entries. Flower shows come and flower shows go but there have been few more breathtaking than this one. Mrs. Campbell was director of the flower show for many years.

Traffic Signs Atop Cars Tried

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — New traffic control devices are to be tested soon by the Washington State Patrol in the Seattle-Tacoma area.

The project, consisting of four of the new devices, is being funded by $14,000 from the Washington Traffic Safety Commission.

Each control system consists of a sign mounted atop a patrol vehicle. When not in use the sign rests flat on the vehicle's roof. When needed it can be raised to more than five feet for viewing from the rear of the patrol car.

The message viewing area measures 30 by 40 inches. Eight messages are printed on a scroll and can be changed from within the vehicle. The messages will include arrows and other instructions to direct motorists.

LE Claimed Miss Pumpkin Show Crown Again In 1965

The annual fest was opened in 1965 by Susan Bennett sounding the official welcome on the traditional Foresman Chimes. Many of today's traditions were alive ten years ago including the opening march by the Amanda-Clearcreek Band.

Seven parades and 65 high school bands were on tap for the 59th annual show.

For the third consecutive year, the Miss Pumpkin show Crown went to Logan Elm High School's contestant. The 1965 Miss PS was Debbie Ankrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ankrom, Route 4.

Not only the queen but the first attendant hailed from LE. Miss Rebecca Alkire, LE's senior contestant, won the first attendant title from a field of 14 lovely ladies.

Westfall High School claimed a position in the royal trio when Dawn Morrison was selected to reign as second attendant to Miss Pumpkin Show.

The first attendant was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alkire, Route 1, and the second attendant, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Morrison, Route 1, Williamsport.

Miss Pumpkin Show was chosen in front of a full house of spectators at the fairgrounds coliseum.

Miss Alkire was selected attendant to little Miss Pumpkin Show 11 years before. In 1954, she attended little Shauna Humphrey who reigned as Little Miss in '54 and as Miss Pumpkin Show in '64.

A vivacious little blonde named Rhonda Sue Harber took the judges' eyes for the coveted Little Miss Pumpkins Show crown. She was the daugher of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Harber, 1265 N. Court St.

Robin Manson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Manson, Route 1, was the first runner-up for the title and Kimberly Tomlinson, 426 Ruth Ave. hailed as the second attendant.

Florida's Sun Goddess Miss Suzanne Warner visited the '65 edition of the big pumpkin celebration representing the St. Petersburg Festival of States.

Charming little Miss Kelly Spence, 424 Holiday Lane, missed the Little Miss Crown but was presented a trophy for her efforts by her sponsor, Dougherty Appliances.

Frank Coon took home the honors again with a 100-pound pumpkin and a squash tipping the scales at 202 pounds.

The big prizes were all in the family so to say. Only half a pound away from the biggest was Frank Coon's 201½ pound squash. Mark Coon took the third place with a not-so-small 191½ pounder.

Frank Coon, in all, walked off with seven trophies.

The Dunkels were not to be outwitted in '65. Doug Dunkel displayed the largest caushaw squash at 90½ pounds. Second place was taken by Ralph Dunkle's 85½ pound caushaw and third place by A. J. Dunkle with a 78½ pound entry. Doug Dunkle also had the largest Cow red pumpkin (63 pounds). Coon's biggy was a chesse tan variety.

Over 200 cuties vied for prizes and attention during the baby parade which was also dampened by rain.

Due to the rain, the parade was cancelled and the contest was held in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

Cheryl and Crystal Lindsey, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Linsey, Adelphi, took top honors as the prettiest white twins.

Jeff Wippel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wippel, Ashville, and Krista Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Welsh, 222 Brinks Drive, were the winners of the prettiest baby boy and girl under the age of one year.

One to two-year-olds were topped by Candy Barr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Barr, Route 4, and John Patrick Hawks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawks, Tarlton.

The older baby division, two to three year olds, was won by Mark Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Bell and Leah Seimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Seimer, Route 1, Kingston.

Guy Allan, who held the title as the world's champion baton twirler, was on hand as one of the judges for the Pumpkin Show Baton Twirling Contest. Allan was a former winner of the contest himself. He was assisted in his judging duties by Mrs. Patty Jenkins of Canal Winchester, also a former winner of the contest.

With temperatures in the 80's, Pumpkin Show Directors estimated the throngs who gathered to see "King Pumpkin" reached as high as 300,000. A steady downpour dampened both the floats and the performers during the first day's activities.

Lindsey's Bake Shop followed its tradition by baking the world's largest pumpkin pie again. Gene Linsey revealed his recipe and said all those ingredients cost only $34.44.

First day winners of the Bake a Pumpkin Pie Contest were Mrs. J. L. Hoffman, 538 E. Franklin St., and Dawn Morrison, Route 1, Williamsport. Mrs. Robert Shadley was director of the contest assisted by Mrs. John Himrod.

Sharon Fowler's Little Miss Pumpkin Show Float took first prize as the best decorated doll buggy. Stephen Stocklin and John Radcliff took the first prize in the float contest for youngsters up to ten years old. Their entry was entitled "Viet Nam Float."

Mrs. Otis Runyon had the best adult oil painting entry in the annual Pumpkin Show Open Art Show. She also won several other categories.

By the time the pet parade was scheduled in the 59th Pumpkin Show, rains which had appeared earlier had disappeared.

David Elsea and Jill Bach won top honors as typical boy and typical girl and their pets. The most unusual pet category was taken by Dennis Taylor.

Mrs. Frances Crawford, Kingston, received the Best of Show award and also the sweepstakes following the flower show judging.

Mrs. Tena Agin took the grand prize award in the home arts and crafts department. Her appliqued quilt also won her one of the six best of show awards given away in the department.

Climaxing the 59th annual festival was the crowning of the previous year's Miss Pumpkin Show as Miss Ohio Festivals. Miss Shauna Humphrey of Logan Elm High School was crowned during the ceremonies held on the last night of the fall festival here in Roundtown. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Humphrey, Route 1, Kingston.

MISS 1ST ATTENDANT

1965 BEAUTIES—Debbie Ankrom, center, wore the Miss Pumpkin Show crown in 1965 and from that title went on to become Miss Ohio Festivals the following year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ankrom, Route 4. The lovely Miss is flanked by her two attendants, Dawn Morrison on the left and Becky Alkire on the right. From the royal trio at the Pumpkin Show, Miss Alkire went on to become Miss American Teenager in 1966. This was the third year in the four-year reign of the Logan Elm girls. Logan Elm High School took the Miss Pumpkin Show crown in 1963 with Paige Miller, 1964 with Shauna Humphrey, 1965 with Miss Ankrom and in 1966 with Pat Dawley.

Young Artists Vie For Eucharistic Honor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — To stimulate youth participation in next summer's world-wide gathering of Catholics here, the 41st International Eucharistic Congress is sponsoring a poster contest for students of all U.S. parochical schools.

Pupils in the fifth through 12th grades are asked to convey graphically one of the eight hungers embraced by the Congress' theme. These include mankind's physical and social hungers for bread, freedom and justice, truth, understanding and peace as well as the more basic hungers of the soul for God, the Spirit and Jesus, the Bread of Life.

With entries to be judged on freshness of concept and skill of interpretation, the grand prizes for the contest include all-expense-paid trips to the Congress for the two winners and their parents. All entries must be submitted to school principals in the nation's 166 dioceses by Oct. 31. A panel of judges from the arts and graphics field will choose the national winners.

LE Claimed Miss Pumpkin Show Crown Again In 1965

The annual fest was opened in 1965 by Susan Bennett sounding the official welcome on the traditional Foresman Chimes. Many of today's traditions were alive ten years ago including the opening march by the Amanda-Clearcreek Band.

Seven parades and 65 high school bands were on tap for the 59th annual show.

For the third consecutive year, the Miss Pumpkin show Crown went to Logan Elm High School's contestant. The 1965 Miss PS was Debbie Ankrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ankrom, Route 4.

Not only the queen but the first attendant hailed from LE. Miss Rebecca Alkire, LE's senior contestant, won the first attendant title from a field of 14 lovely ladies.

Westfall High School claimed a position in the royal trio when Dawn Morrison was selected to reign as second attendant to Miss Pumpkin Show.

The first attendant was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alkire, Route 1, and the second attendant, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Morrison, Route 1, Williamsport.

Miss Pumpkin Show was chosen in front of a full house of spectators at the fairgrounds coliseum.

Miss Alkire was selected attendant to little Miss Pumpkin Show 11 years before. In 1954, she attended little Shauna Humphrey who reigned as Little Miss in '54 and as Miss Pumpkin Show in '64.

A vivacious little blonde named Rhonda Sue Harber took the judges' eyes for the coveted Little Miss Pumpkins Show crown. She was the daugher of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Harber, 1265 N. Court St.

Robin Manson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Manson, Route 1, was the first runner-up for the title and Kimberly Tomlinson, 426 Ruth Ave. hailed as the second attendant.

Florida's Sun Goddess Miss Suzanne Warner visited the '65 edition of the big pumpkin celebration representing the St. Petersburg Festival of States.

Charming little Miss Kelly Spence, 424 Holiday Lane, missed the Little Miss Crown but was presented a trophy for her efforts by her sponsor, Dougherty Appliances.

Frank Coon took home the honors again with a 100-pound pumpkin and a squash tipping the scales at 202 pounds.

The big prizes were all in the family so to say. Only half a pound away from the biggest was Frank Coon's 201½ pound squash. Mark Coon took the third place with a not-so-small 191½ pounder.

Frank Coon, in all, walked off with seven trophies.

The Dunkels were not to be outwitted in '65. Doug Dunkel displayed the largest caushaw squash at 90½ pounds. Second place was taken by Ralph Dunkle's 85½ pound caushaw and third place by A. J. Dunkle with a 78½ pound entry. Doug Dunkle also had the largest Cow red pumpkin (63 pounds). Coon's biggy was a chesse tan variety.

All is not bright smiles and laughter at Pumpkin Show, the blind accordian player who played at Court and Main during the show, was robbed of the money in his tin cup.

Over 200 cuties vied for prizes and attention during the baby parade which was also dampened by rain.

Due to the rain, the parade was cancelled and the contest was held in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

Cheryl and Crystal Lindsey, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Linsey, Adelphi, took top honors as the prettiest white twins.

Jeff Wippel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wippel, Ashville, and Krista Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Welsh, 222 Brinks Drive, were the winners of the prettiest baby boy and girl under the age of one year.

One to two-year-olds were topped by Candy Barr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Barr, Route 4, and John Patrick Hawks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawks, Tarlton.

The older baby division, two to three year olds, was won by Mark Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Bell and Leah Seimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Seimer, Route 1, Kingston.

Guy Allan, who held the title as the world's champion baton twirler, was on hand as one of the judges for the Pumpkin Show Baton Twirling Contest. Allan was a former winner of the contest himself. He was assisted in his judging duties by Mrs. Patty Jenkins of Canal Winchester, also a former winner of the contest.

With temperatures in the 80's, Pumpkin Show Directors estimated the throngs who gathered to see "King Pumpkin" reached as high as 300,000. A steady downpour dampened both the floats and the performers during the first day's activities.

Lindsey's Bake Shop followed its tradition by baking the world's largest pumpkin pie again. Gene Linsey revealed his recipe and said all those ingredients cost only $34.44.

First day winners of the Bake a Pumpkin Pie Contest were Mrs. J. L. Hoffman, 538 E. Franklin St., and Dawn Morrison, Route 1, Williamsport. Mrs. Robert Shadley was director of the contest assisted by Mrs. John Himrod.

Sharon Fowler's Little Miss Pumpkin Show Float took first prize as the best decorated doll buggy. Stephen Stocklin and John Radcliff took the first prize in the float contest for youngsters up to ten years old. Their entry was entitled "Viet Nam Float."

Mrs. Otis Runyon had the best adult oil painting entry in the annual Pumpkin Show Open Art Show. She also won several other categories.

By the time the pet parade was scheduled in the 59th Pumpkin Show, rains which had appeared earlier had disappeared.

David Elsea and Jill Bach won top honors as typical boy and typical girl and their pets. The most unusual pet category was taken by Dennis Taylor.

Mrs. Frances Crawford, Kingston, received the Best of Show award and also the sweepstakes following the flower show judging.

Mrs. Tena Agin took the grand prize award in the home arts and crafts department. Her appliqued quilt also won her one of the six best of show awards given away in the department.

Climaxing the 59th annual festival was the crowning of the previous year's Miss Pumpkin Show as Miss Ohio Festivals. Miss Shauna Humphrey of Logan Elm High School was crowned during the ceremonies held on the last night of the fall festival here in Roundtown. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Humphrey, Route 1, Kingston.

Harry Tidd Art Gallery was located there.

Widows Prefer Revisiting Memories

NEW YORK (AP) — Most widows prefer going on vacation to places where they went with their late husbands, according to Mrs. Beatrice L. Green, executive director of the Widows Travel Club, which arranges for widows to meet for traveling purposes.

"One of their most important possessions is their memories," points out Mrs. Green, "and the widows enjoy going back to places where they had fond memories when they were married."

OFF WE GO—O. D. Mader sits waiting for an earlier edition of the famous Pumpkin Show in this gaily decorated buggy. Also shown in the photo is a carriage made locally by the J. A. McLaughlin and Brother Company on Scioto Street.

EARLY DISPLAY—Corilla Pontious, a Thatcher resident now, poses in this 1911 photo of a farm display in front of the courthouse. The exhibit included chickens, rabbits, ducks, corn, and tree branches in addition to the famous pumpkins.

Police Strive To Keep Control

Additional officers will assist Circleville Police in performing their duties during Pumpkin Show, according to Police Chief Robert Temple, who doesn't expect any real trouble but doesn't want to be caught shorthanded.

The department will have its full compliment of patrolman, two men from the Chillicothe Police Department, and air police from Rickenbacker Air Force Base.

Some of the men will be assigned to foot patrol of downtown Circleville, and some will be in plain clothes.

But, the police department will operate as usual in protecting the citizens of the city. "Just because its Pumpkin Show, we will not let up on our ordinary line of business," he said.

Instead, vehicles from the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department and Ohio State Highway Patrol assist policemen with crowd control during the parades.

Chief Temple also listed some precautionary measures Pumpkin Show visitors should take:

Parents should not give large sums of money to their children.

If a vehicle becomes lost, members of the REACT team will assist persons in finding where they were parked.

Persons hearing emergency vehicles should yield the right-of-way. Officers will try to maintain traffic and pedestrian control of Franklin St. in both directions.

Firemen Will Man Station 2 During Show

Station 2, the vacant gasoline station purchased by Circleville several months ago, will play a major part in this year's Pumpkin Show.

Station 2 is the home of the Emergency Medical Team and an auxiliary location for the Circleville Fire Department.

Three members of the fire department will man the station noon to midnight the four days of the Pumpkin Show, and an additional four men will be stationed in the E. Franklin St. fire house.

Chief Mike Brown feels this arrangement will afford the best possible fire protection for the citizens of the city.

Pedestrian and vehicular traffic hinder firemen, as well as law enforcement officials, during the Pumpkin Show, and the use of Station 2 should cut the time Brown's crew needs in reaching any area of the city.

As a precautionary measure, the pumper housed at Station 2 during the Show, will be parked away from the congested areas during all parades.

As a help to fire fighters, Pumpkin Show visitors are asked to park their vehicles only in authorized areas. Parking in alleys is prohibited.

In the event of a fire, spectators are asked to clear the street area at the summons of officers to allow the equipment to pass.

The French and Indian War, 1754-63, was the final struggle in North America between the French and English, each with their Indian allies. It was known in Europe as the Seven Year War.

Windows Pay For Getting Good Trim

Circleville Sertoma Club will sponsor the window trimming contest at the 1975 Pumpkin Show with Charles Gerhardt serving as chairman.

Rules regarding the trimming of windows for the show are as follows:

1. Anyone is eligible, whether it be merchants, church groups, boy scouts or others.
2. All window displays should be located in the downtown area of Circleville.
3. All windows will be eligible if the display is in keeping with the Pumpkin Show.
4. Pumpkins must be used in the display.
5. There will only be one classification of windows for awards.
6. Entries will be accepted until 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.
7. Out-of-town professional window trimmers cannot be used.
8. Windows will be judged 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Prizes for the best windows are: $50, 1st; $25, 2nd; $15, 3rd; $10, 4th.

Jefferson Was Pro Metric

CHICAGO (AP) — Thomas Jefferson recommended that the United States adopt the metric system of measuring in 1790, according to World Book Encyclopedia. Congress rejected the idea.

In 1821, john Quincy Adams, then U.S. Secretary of State, proposed conversion to the metric system. Congress again rejected the idea.

Windows Pay For Getting Good Trim

Circleville Sertoma Club will sponsor the window trimming contest at the 1975 Pumpkin Show with Charles Gerhardt serving as chairman.

Rules regarding the trimming of windows for the show are as follows:

1. Anyone is eligible, whether it be merchants, church groups, boy scouts or others.
2. All window displays should be located in the downtown area of Circleville.
3. All windows will be eligible if the display is in keeping with the Pumpkin Show.
4. Pumpkins must be used in the display.
5. There will only be one classification of windows for awards.
6. Entries will be accepted until 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.
7. Out-of-town professional window trimmers cannot be used.
8. Windows will be judged 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Prizes for the best windows are: $50, 1st; $25, 2nd; $15, 3rd; $10, 4th.

Jefferson Was Pro Metric

CHICAGO (AP) — Thomas Jefferson recommended that the United States adopt the metric system of measuring in 1790, according to World Book Encyclopedia. Congress rejected the idea.

In 1821, john Quincy Adams, then U.S. Secretary of State, proposed conversion to the metric system. Congress again rejected the idea.

The French and Indian War, 1754-63, was the final struggle in North America between the French and English, each with their Indian allies. It was known in Europe as the Seven Year War.

Police Strive To Keep Control

Additional officers will assist Circleville Police in performing their duties during Pumpkin Show, according to Police Chief Robert Temple, who doesn't expect any real trouble but doesn't want to be caught shorthanded.

The department will have its full compliment of patrolman, two men from the Chillicothe Police Department, and air police from Rickenbacker Air Force Base.

Some of the men will be assigned to foot patrol of downtown Circleville, and some will be in plain clothes.

But, the police department will operate as usual in protecting the citizens of the city. "Just because its Pumpkin Show, we will not let up on our ordinary line of business," he said.

The Department, with only two marked cruisers, never uses its vehicles in parades, keeping them for regular patrol.

Instead, vehicles from the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department and Ohio State Highway Patrol assist policemen with crowd control during the parades.

Chief Temple also listed some precautionary measures Pumpkin Show visitors should take:

Persons with citizen band radios in their cars should have them removed during the show. Aerials on cars should be telescoped down.

Persons riding bicycles should make certain they are solidly locked.

Parents should not give large sums of money to their children.

If going in a group, persons should establish a meeting place in the event one of the group becomes lost.

Persons who have a crisis at the show should report the incidents immediately to police.

If a vehicle becomes lost, members of the REACT team will assist persons in finding where they were parked.

Persons hearing emergency vehicles should yield the right-of-way. Officers will try to maintain traffic and pedestrian control of Franklin St. in both directions.

Firemen Will Man Station 2 During Show

Station 2, the vacant gasoline station purchased by Circleville several months ago, will play a major part in this year's Pumpkin Show.

Station 2 is the home of the Emergency Medical Team and an auxiliary location for the Circleville Fire Department.

Three members of the fire department will man the station noon to midnight the four days of the Pumpkin Show, and an additional four men will be stationed in the E. Franklin St. fire house.

Chief Mike Brown feels this arrangement will afford the best possible fire protection for the citizens of the city.

Pedestrian and vehicular traffic hinder firemen, as well as law enforcement officials, during the Pumpkin Show, and the use of Station 2 should cut the time Brown's crew needs in reaching any area of the city.

As a precautionary measure, the pumper housed at Station 2 during the Show, will be parked away from the congested areas during all parades.

As a help to fire fighters, Pumpkin Show visitors are asked to park their vehicles only in authorized areas. Parking in alleys is prohibited.

Redskins Defeat St. Louis Cards In NFL Tilt, 27-17

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was like winning one for old Notre Dame.

Joe Theismann and John Pergine came in for a lot of ribbing from their Washington teammates Monday night after they connected on a fake field goal to spark the Redskins to a 27-17 National football League victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in a nationally televised game.

Washington reserve linebacker Rusty Tillman told newsmen as they crowded around Pergine, who caught the 30-yard touchdown pass from Theismann, that he was the primary receiver on the play.

"It was a Notre Dame special," said Tillman. "I was a receiver on the play and he didn't even see me."

Theismann, who was a freshman when Pergine, now a reserve linebacker, was playing for the Fighting Irish, said, "We have a very strong Catholic relationship, even though we're not even Catholic."

The surprise play by the Redskins came early in the third quarter after Terry Metcalf had stunned Washington with a 93-yard return of the secondhalf kickoff.

"We really caught them with their pants down," said Theismann, third string quarterback and holder on placements. "It was an element-of-surprise play and it worked beautifully. It's an amazing picture when you see your guys down field and nobody around them."

The fake field goal and the running of rookie Mike Thomas, who scored touchdowns from the one and the two-yard lines, moved the Redskins, now 3-1, to within one game of the undefeated Dallas Cowboys in the National Football Conference Eastern Division. The Cardinals are now 2-2.

Cardinals coach Don Coryell said, "What did I think about the fake punt? I didn't like it. What else can you say.

"There was absolutely no doubt in my mind that we would not come back and get 'em," he said. "They were obviously up for the game."

Washington's Mark Moseley and St. Louis' Jim Bakken traded 47-yard field goals before Thomas, from the University of Nevada-Los Vegas, went over from the two for his first touchdown to give the Redskins a 10-3 lead. Metcalf's kickoff return tied the score.

After the Pergine score, Jim Hart put the Cardinals back into a tie with a 48-yard touchdown strike to Mel Gray to tie the knot at 17-17.

In the fourth quarter, however, Thomas dove one yard for his second touchdown of the night and Moseley booted a 34-yard field goal to put the icing on the victory.

And, when the Cardinals appeared to be closing in, linebacker Chris Hanburger picked off a Hart pass to kill a possible score in the fourth quarter.

"The interception by Hanburger was a fine defensive play," said Coryell. "We just went to the well once too often on that one and Hanburger is an intelligent, good defensive player and he read it well."

Series Resumes Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP) — The track will be fast and clear for tonight's third World Series game and Cincinnati's thoroughbreds intend to run the Boston Red Sox right out of Riverfront Stadium.

"Everything's different now," said Joe Morgan. "Playing at home is going to make all the difference in the world for us."

At no time in recent World Series history has the home field advantage or weather conditions meant as much as in this one.

The Red Sox, although they split the first two games in Boston over the weekend, had a distinct advantage in their own Fenway Park. Now, they have an obvious disadvantage at Riverfront.

"The ball park had a lot to do with our performance," said Morgan, pointing to a meager total of three runs and a .188 team batting average in the two games.

The Reds, accustomed to their springy artificial turf at home, were slowed to a crawl by Fenway's much slower natural grass, not to mention heavy rains that bothered their famed running game. Also, there was the psychological disadvantage of playing with "The Green Monster," the close left field wall that just about dares right handed hitters to swing at it.

None of the hitters on the Red Sox or the Reds reached the notorious wall on the fly, but that doesn't mean it didn't play a big part in the first two games.

"Mentally, it was kind of hard for us," Morgan pointed out, "because our right-handed hitters were going for that wall. And I think it hurt us because it was always on our minds. Now that we're at Riverfront Stadium, it's going to make a big difference the way our hitters attack the ball. You'll see different hitters here."

The Red Sox will also see different runners in Cincinnati, too, because of the sleek playing surface.

"We can score runs without getting hits," said Morgan, referring to Cincinnati's blinding speed. "The rain sure hurt us in Boston. When you play in the rain, everybody's game is changed. I wish it hadn't rained."

While the artificial turf was expected to help the Reds' offense, it could also be a crucial factor in the Boston defense.

"You need a quicker infielder and outfielder on this surface," Morgan explained. "You have to have that extra step to cut off baseballs. The Red Sox better be quick on this surface or it'll hurt them."

The American League champions, despite Morgan's warning, feel they'll be ready, willing and able to play in the home park of the National League kings.

Whitey Herzog, manager of the Royals agrees with that lofty assessment.

"The Red Sox can play on any surface," he said. "They're just a good ball club. The artificial turf at our ballpark in Kansas City didn't bother them much, if at all, this year. They won four out of six in our park."

Obviously thinking about that fast artificial turf, Boston Manager Darrell Johnson named Rick Wise as his starter to oppose Cincinnati's Gary Nolan.

"Rick is basically a high-ball pitcher and that should be helpful," Johnson said. "A sinker ball pitcher forces men to hit the ball on the ground. A highball pitcher, like Wise, gets many men on pops."

Rico Petrocelli, Boston's third baseman, had the artificial surface on his mind, too.

"I won't be able to play back on their right-handed hitters," Petrocelli said, grimacing. "They run too good."

The Red Sox, hoping to get the feel of the strange ballpark, worked out Monday night under the lights for Game No. 3. The weather for the third game was expected to be warm and clear.

"We're back where we started, all even," Johnson said. "It's a best-of-five series now. We just have to win three."

The fourth and fifth games of this 72nd World Series will also be played in Cincinnati on Wednesday and Thursday nights. If needed, the sixth and seventh games will take place back in Boston next Saturday and Sunday.

Clemson's Tigers have won five Atlantic Coast Conference football titles, their last coming in 1967.

Circleville Bumped From First In Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Holy Name will have little time to think about its new Class AA lead in The Associated Press' Ohio high school football ratings.

The unbeaten Cleveland school, replacing Circleville atop the middle division, faces a rugged Class AAA opponent, Parma Padua, Saturday night. Padua suffered its first loss in six games last week, a 36-15 drubbing from Lakewood St. Edward, Ohio's third-ranked big school power.

Holy Name used a 28-0 victory last week over another touted squad, Louisville Aquinas, to springboard from third to first in Class AA. Holy Name has 194 points and a scant four-point lead over Circleville this week.

The Class A race is just as close while Cincinnati Moeller, the Class AAA pacesetter all season, has a more comfortable edge in the ratings by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Newark Catholic, the small school leader, is four points up on runnerup Canal Winchester 223-219. Both are sailing along with 6-0-0 records.

Moeller's edge over Warren Harding has dwindled to 13 points. The Cincinnati school, an impressive 12-7 victor at Cleveland St. Joseph last week, earned 253 points. Harding, also 6-0-0, has 240 points to retain the No. 2 ranking.

The Class AAA poll showed the most stability with the first nine teams keeping their same positions. Only 10th-ranked Canton McKinley, 11th a week ago, is new. The Bulldogs replaced Elyria, now 13th after a loss to Fremont Ross.

Newark kept fourth, East Liverpool fifth, Findlay sixth, Zanesville seventh, Upper Arlington eighth and Kettering Alter ninth. All are unbeaten except Upper Arlington.

New Lexington fell one notch to third in Class AA. Cincinnati Wyoming again was fourth and Wheelersburg fifth. Poland advanced two spots to sixth, Ironton fell one to seventh, Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary was eighth, Ironton ninth and Bellaire No. 10, its first appearance in the Top Ten.

Burton Berkshire leaped from sixth to third in Class A, Cedarville held fourth and Loudonville surged five positions to fifth.

New Philadelphia Tuscarawas Catholic improved two rungs to sixth, Salineville Southern did the same to take seventh, Middletown Fenwick dropped from third to eighth and Rockford Parkway and Middlefield Cardinal shared ninth. It was the first time both had been in The Top Ten.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here's how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school football teams this week for The Associated Press (10 points for first to 1 point for 10th):

CLASS AAA

1. Cincinnati Moeller, 6-0-0, 253 points.
2. Warren Harding, 6-0-0, 240.
3. Lakewood St. Edward, 6-0-0, 217.
4. Newark, 4-0-0, 149.
5. East Liverpool, 6-0-0, 143.
6. Findlay, 6-0-0, 117.
7. Zanesville, 6-0-0, 97.
8. Upper Arlington, 5-1-0, 77.
9. Kettering Alter, 4-0-0, 72.
10. Canton McKinley, 5-1-0, 51.

Other schools receiving 10 or more points: Cincinnati Princeton 34, Fremont Ross 29, Elyria 22, Youngstown Chaney 18, Westerville South 17, Geneva 15, North Canton Hoover 14, Middletown and Cincinnati Colerain 12 and Washington Court House Miami Trace 10.

CLASS AA

1. Cleveland Holy Name, 5-0-0, 194.
2. Circleville, 6-0-0, 190.
3. New Lexington, 6-0-0, 171.
4. Cincinnati Wyoming, 6-0-0, 152.
5. Wheelersburg, 6-0-0, 113.
6. Poland, 6-0-0, 111.
7. Ironton, 5-1-0, 103.
8. Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary, 5-1-0, 96.
9. London, 6-0-0, 91.
10. Bellaire, 6-0-0, 44.

CLASS A

1. Newark Catholic, 6-0-0, 223.
2. Canal Winchester, 6-0-0, 219.
3. Burton Berkshire, 6-0-0, 155.
4. Carey, 6-0-0, 148.
5. Loudonville, 6-0-0, 125.

6 New Philadelphia Tuscarawas Catholic, 5-0-1, 118.

7. Salineville Southern, 5-1-0, 98.
8. Middletown Fenwick, 4-2-0, 88.

9 (tie). Rockford Parkway, 5-0-1, and Middlefield Cardinal, 5-1-0, 34.

Other schools receiving 10 or more points: Lowellville 33, Albany Alexander 29, Sullivan Black River 25, Cedarville and Chesapeake 24, Irondale Stanton and Piketon 21, Cleveland Hawken 19, Bluffton 18, Cincinnati Lockland and Leipsic 17, New Washington Buckeye Central 16, Ottawa Hills, Perry and Lisbon Anderson 15, Williamsburg 14, Monroeville 13, Arlington 12, and Montpelier 11.

CHS Tennis Team Defeats Logan, 4-1

The Circleville High School girls' tennis team defeated Logan High School netters 4-1 Monday. The Tiger girls have a 5-3 record for the season.

In singles competition, Sue Radcliff defeated Debbie Reynolds, 6-3 and 6-4; Ann Titus defeated Jamie Mara, 6-2 and 6-1; and Kelly Steele defeated Kim King, 6-0 and 6-3.

In the doubles, Circleville's Laura Dowd and Rojanne Bowers lost to Jamie Mara and Julie Bell, 7-6, 1-6 and 1-0. The other doubles team of Circleville composed of Donna Milburn and Denise Crawford defeated Kristen Anders and Cyndi Adams 6-0 and 6-0.

In exhibition competition Paula Tussing defeated Cyndi Adams, 10-3.

Circleville will play tonight at 4:30 at Unioto High School.

Long Bombs Beat Tiger Frosh, 14-0

Two long touchdown passes in the first half was the ball game as Circleville's freshman football team dropped a 14-0 decision to Upper Arlington Jones.

The Little Tigers defense was tough against the running game but costly mistakes on the long bombs hurt them.

Circleville's offense sputtered and never really got started but the defense, led by Tim Welliver, Jeff Strawser, Tom Logan and Jim Gates, turned in a good performance.

Circleville will host Chillicothe Smith 4:30 p.m. Oct. 23.

Cornelius Greene Tops On Offense

CHICAGO (AP) — Cornelius Greene, top-ranked Ohio State's clever quarterback, has been named the Big Ten's Player of the Week on offense by the Associated Press.

Greene gained the award for an errorless performance in a 49-0 victory over Iowa last week.

The senior from Washington, D.C., completed eight of eight passes for 117 yards including a touchdown toss to Larry Kain. He also gained 49 yards rushing and ran seven yards for a touchdown.

Cap To Honor Jack Landrum

John F. "Jack" Landrum, for 20 years a teacher-coach at Capital University, will return to Cap Oct. 18 for the 1975 homecoming ,where he will be honored as the 1975 recipient of the Alumni Varsity "C" Merit Award.

In addition to his 10 years as Crusader head football coach, Landrum was Capital's track mentor for 19 years and he was a college and high school football and basketball official for 30 years. He coached at Circleville High School two years, 1935 through 1937.

Landrum will be presented the award during halftime ceremonies of the scheduled homecoming contest between Capital and Mount Union College. Hugo Wenzel, president of the Alumni Varsity "C", will present the Merit plaque, which annually recognizes one of the nearly 1,000 members of Alumni Varsity "C" who has made a significant contribution to the school's physical education program, or has achieved success and recognition in the field of physical education and coaching.

A 1934 graduate of Capital, Landrum was a center in football and named to the all-Ohio Athletic Conference squads in 1932 and '33. His head coaching tenure in football at Cap included a 43-32-3 won-loss record. He posted winning seasons in eight of his ten years at the grid helm. Landrum's track teams at one time set an all-time Capital dual meet during the 1960's. during the 1960's

He and wife Ruth have been residents of Hessel, Mich. since Jack's retirement at Capital in June 1970.

CHS Tennis Team Defeats Logan, 4-1

The Circleville High School girls' tennis team defeated Logan High School netters 4-1 Monday. The Tiger girls have a 5-3 record for the season.

In singles competition, Sue Radcliff defeated Debbie Reynolds, 6-3 and 6-4; Ann Titus defeated Jamie Mara, 6-2 and 6-1; and Kelly Steele defeated Kim King, 6-0 and 6-3.

In the doubles, Circleville's Laura Dowd and Rojanne Bowers lost to Jamie Mara and Julie Bell, 7-6, 1-6 and 1-0. The other doubles team of Circleville composed of Donna Milburn and Denise Crawford defeated Kristen Anders and Cyndi Adams 6-0 and 6-0.

In exhibition competition Paula Tussing defeated Cyndi Adams, 10-3.

Circleville will play tonight at 4:30 at Unioto High School.

Long Bombs Beat Tiger Frosh, 14-0

Two long touchdown passes in the first half was the ball game as Circleville's freshman football team dropped a 14-0 decision to Upper Arlington Jones.

The Little Tigers defense was tough against the running game but costly mistakes on the long bombs hurt them.

Circleville's offense sputtered and never really got started but the defense, led by Tim Welliver, Jeff Strawser, Tom Logan and Jim Gates, turned in a good performance.

Circleville will host Chillicothe Smith 4:30 p.m. Oct. 23.

Cornelius Greene Tops On Offense

CHICAGO (AP) — Cornelius Greene, top-ranked Ohio State's clever quarterback, has been named the Big Ten's Player of the Week on offense by the Associated Press.

Greene gained the award for an errorless performance in a 49-0 victory over Iowa last week.

The senior from Washington, D.C., completed eight of eight passes for 117 yards including a touchdown toss to Larry Kain. He also gained 49 yards rushing and ran seven yards for a touchdown.

Cap To Honor Jack Landrum

John F. "Jack" Landrum, for 20 years a teacher-coach at Capital University, will return to Cap Oct. 18 for the 1975 homecoming ,where he will be honored as the 1975 recipient of the Alumni Varsity "C" Merit Award.

In addition to his 10 years as Crusader head football coach, Landrum was Capital's track mentor for 19 years and he was a college and high school football and basketball official for 30 years. He coached at Circleville High School two years, 1935 through 1937.

Landrum will be presented the award during halftime ceremonies of the scheduled homecoming contest between Capital and Mount Union College. Hugo Wenzel, president of the Alumni Varsity "C", will present the Merit plaque, which annually recognizes one of the nearly 1,000 members of Alumni Varsity "C" who has made a significant contribution to the school's physical education program, or has achieved success and recognition in the field of physical education and coaching.

A 1934 graduate of Capital, Landrum was a center in football and named to the all-Ohio Athletic Conference squads in 1932 and '33. His head coaching tenure in football at Cap included a 43-32-3 won-loss record. He posted winning seasons in eight of his ten years at the grid helm. Landrum's track teams at one time set an all-time Capital dual meet during the 1960's.
during the 1960's

He and wife Ruth have been residents of Hessel, Mich. since Jack's retirement at Capital in June 1970.

State Sick Leave Abused

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State workers collected $24.8 million in sick leave pay last year and during certain pay periods the number of employes absent, supposedly because of illness, amounted to one-third of the total payroll.

Those are the findings of the Governor's Cost Control Council which recently completed a 12-week study of state spending.

"The cost of sick leave when related to the total payroll, averages 4.4 per cent, a level of expenditure that would be intolerable in the private sector," the little Hoover report said.

"Existing abuse of the sick leave privilege is a burden of significant magnitude in government," the cost council added. "Because of existing absenteeism, many agencies are overstaffed."

In a sampling of two-week pay periods, the cost experts said they found sick leave ranging from 24.6 per cent to 34.2 per cent of the more than 70,000-employe state payroll.

Administrative services director Richard L. Krabach, who is in charge of implementing the cost councils recommendations, said sick leave "would be one of the priorities," among the 590 proposals.

"We have cut it down by just letting all employes know we're damned concerned," the head of the state's major personnel agency said.

Krabach said an attempt to require doctor's excuses from employes claiming illness was set aside after the state attorney general issued an unfavorable opinion on such a move.

The cost council suggests the development and administration of a statewide program to improve job attendance. "Each agency should be held accountable for its performance under the proposed program," the cost report said.

All levels of management should be indoctrinated with the necessity for regular attendance and "the fact that management performance is measured, in part, by the attendance records of subordinates," it continues.

The council says the support of the governor should be enlisted for the effort and that incentives or recognition should be developed for good attendance.

A first year objective of a 4 per cent average absence rate should be established, the council said, with a second year goal of 3.75 per cent.

"Implementation should reduce sick leave usage by 29 per cent for 109 agencies where payments under the current policy exceed 4 per cent of the total payroll. The average saving is estimated at almost $3.8 million based on expenditures," the cost report said.

Court Releases Monthly Report

Carolyn Royster has released a report for the month of September for Circleville Municipal Court.

Total for fines, costs and bond forfeitures was $10,150. Of this amount, the city of Circleville will receive $5,082.80, and Pickaway County, $2,874.40. Total due to the treasurer of the state is $1,842.30. Sheriff of Pickaway County will receive $154.50 with other disbursements totalling $196.

Criminal cases filed numbered 501 with 375 cases finished. The number of cases in which all or part of the fines and costs suspended was 23 while the amount of fines and costs suspended totaled $599.

Nineteen civil cases were filed with seven cases concluded. The total due to the city for civil cases is $186.57.

The number of small claims filed was 74. Forty-nine cases were finished leaving the amount due to the city at $264.05.

State Sick Leave Abused

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State workers collected $24.8 million in sick leave pay last year and during certain pay periods the number of employes absent, supposedly because of illness, amounted to one-third of the total payroll.

Those are the findings of the Governor's Cost Control Council which recently completed a 12-week study of state spending.

"The cost of sick leave when related to the total payroll, averages 4.4 per cent, a level of expenditure that would be intolerable in the private sector," the little Hoover report said.

"Existing abuse of the sick leave privilege is a burden of significant magnitude in government," the cost council added. "Because of existing absenteeism, many agencies are overstaffed."

In a sampling of two-week pay periods, the cost experts said they found sick leave ranging from 24.6 per cent to 34.2 per cent of the more than 70,000-employe state payroll.

Administrative services director Richard L. Krabach, who is in charge of implementing the cost councils recommendations, said sick leave "would be one of the priorities," among the 590 proposals.

"We have cut it down by just letting all employes know we're damned concerned," the head of the state's major personnel agency said.

Krabach said an attempt to require doctor's excuses from employes claiming illness was set aside after the state attorney general issued an unfavorable opinion on such a move.

The cost council suggests the development and administration of a statewide program to improve job attendance. "Each agency should be held accountable for its performance under the proposed program," the cost report said.

All levels of management should be indoctrinated with the necessity for regular attendance and "the fact that management performance is measured, in part, by the attendance records of subordinates," it continues.

The council says the support of the governor should be enlisted for the effort and that incentives or recognition should be developed for good attendance.

A first year objective of a 4 per cent average absence rate should be established, the council said, with a second year goal of 3.75 per cent.

"Implementation should reduce sick leave usage by 29 per cent for 109 agencies where payments under the current policy exceed 4 per cent of the total payroll. The average saving is estimated at almost $3.8 million based on expenditures," the cost report said.

Court Releases Monthly Report

Carolyn Royster has released a report for the month of September for Circleville Municipal Court.

Total for fines, costs and bond forfeitures was $10,150. Of this amount, the city of Circleville will receive $5,082.80, and Pickaway County, $2,874.40. Total due to the treasurer of the state is $1,842.30. Sheriff of Pickaway County will receive $154.50 with other disbursements totalling $196.

Criminal cases filed numbered 501 with 375 cases finished. The number of cases in which all or part of the fines and costs suspended was 23 while the amount of fines and costs suspended totaled $599.

Nineteen civil cases were filed with seven cases concluded. The total due to the city for civil cases is $186.57.

The number of small claims filed was 74. Forty-nine cases were finished leaving the amount due to the city at $264.05.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You could make a profitable financial deal but, even if asked, keep the details to yourself. Some would gladly try to take advantage of your good fortune.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Certain complexities need unravelling, and YOU can right them. A good day for handling tricky situations, mediating disputes.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Face possible changes with equanimity. With YOUR know-how and ingenuity, you can cope. Romance in high favor.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Recall an old tack or maneuver that could inspire, invigorate this day. Not everything new is THE thing, you know.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Keep on your toes now. Sudden intrusions or interruptions will call for unusual diplomacy in handling.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Mercury auspicious. Put your mind and keen powers of observation to work, but DON'T make impulsive decisions. A good day for accomplishment.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A generally good outlook. But tackle all "musts" before undertaking new activities — many of which promise to be unusually attractive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A better day and better possibilities than may seem apparent at first. Planetary influences should stimulate your ambitions and your incentive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A good period for revitalizing all projects, for capitalizing on unusual ideas and revamping outdated methods. Many hidden benefits awaiting you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't reject suggestions without giving them thorough consideration. You may overlook an idea which COULD be developed properly. Domestic concerns especially favored.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): In whatever you do or say, emphasize your most charming manner, which can outwit competition, help prevent friction. News of interest indicated.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Even if hours are short and there is much to be accomplished, make time for efficient planning. A good period for revitalizing all interests.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind, a lively imagination and unusual technical ability; are highly inventive and give an artistic touch to whatever you do. The Libran can become an outstanding leader, especially in humanitarian causes. You do not hesitate to couple the good suggestions of others with your own sensitive intuition and foresight, thus can be a powerful assistant, a community leader and organization manager. You have a keen sense of justice, are philosophical and versatile in the arts. Birthdate of: Paul Reynaud, Fr. statesman; Virgil, Roman poet; Oscar Wilde, Eng. poet, dramatist, novelist; John L. Sullivan, Amer. pugilist.

NEW YORK (AP) — Maid Marian, in civilian life an actress named Misty Rowe, left Sherwood Forest last week to come to Gotham to publicize her new ABC series called "When Things Where Rotten."

Forsooth, she should have brought along the sheriff of Nottingham, no matter how mean he is to Robin Hood & Co. in the new show.

She said a tall, heavy-set lady mugger had shoved her up against a wall and stolen her wallet while she, Miss Rowe, was in the ladies' room of a midtown New York department store putting on fresh makeup.

For Miss Rowe, a blonde, gentle spirit born in San Gabriel, Calif., the incident made her first stay in Fun City memorable in a way she'd just as soon forget.

To top things off, she added somewhat disbelievingly, when she told a sales clerk of the theft moments after the mugger fled, the clerk commenced talking to her as if she had no smarts.

"I told her my wallet had been robbed and she said, 'Where was it?'" Miss Rowe recalled. "I said it was in my purse. She says, 'Where was the purse?' I said, 'On the floor, next to my packages.'

"She says, 'On the floor?' and she starts yelling and screaming at me. She says, 'You ought to know better than to leave your purse on the floor in New York.'"

The young actress shrugged, then laughed infectiously, "What could I say? I just told her this was my first time in New York. I didn't know."

She appeared to have recovered nicely, perhaps because she was headed that evening to Nashville, Tenn., a somewhat less abrasive city to tape new segments for "Hee Haw," in which she has appeared for four years.

Another aid to recovery is the fact she has the starring role in a soon-to-be-released movie called "Goodbye, Norma Jean," a film based on the life of the late Marilyn Monroe.

Miss Rowe, who went into acting studies and acting right after graduation from high school in Glendora, Calif., near San Gabriel, has appeared in a number of TV series, including regular shots on "Happy Days."

But she said she landed her Maid Marian role because of what she considers a "horrible picture of me" in a national magazine article about her "Norma Jean" movie.

She said Norman Steinberg, producer of "When Things Were Rotten," saw the picture while browsing through the magazine one day and thought she might be ideal as Maid Marian.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You could make a profitable financial deal but, even if asked, keep the details to yourself. Some would gladly try to take advantage of your good fortune.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Certain complexities need unravelling, and YOU can right them. A good day for handling tricky situations, mediating disputes.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Face possible changes with equanimity. With YOUR know-how and ingenuity, you can cope. Romance in high favor.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Recall an old tack or maneuver that could inspire, invigorate this day. Not everything new is THE thing, you know.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Keep on your toes now. Sudden intrusions or interruptions will call for unusual diplomacy in handling.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Mercury auspicious. Put your mind and keen powers of observation to work, but DON'T make impulsive decisions. A good day for accomplishment.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A generally good outlook. But tackle all "musts" before undertaking new activities — many of which promise to be unusually attractive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A better day and better possibilities than may seem apparent at first. Planetary influences should stimulate your ambitions and your incentive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A good period for revitalizing all projects, for capitalizing on unusual ideas and revamping outdated methods. Many hidden benefits awaiting you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't reject suggestions without giving them thorough consideration. You may overlook an idea which COULD be developed properly. Domestic concerns especially favored.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): In whatever you do or say, emphasize your most charming manner, which can outwit competition, help prevent friction. News of interest indicated.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Even if hours are short and there is much to be accomplished, make time for efficient planning. A good period for revitalizing all interests.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind, a lively imagination and unusual technical ability; are highly inventive and give an artistic touch to whatever you do. The Libran can become an outstanding leader, especially in humanitarian causes. You do not hesitate to couple the good suggestions of others with your own sensitive intuition and foresight, thus can be a powerful assistant, a community leader and organization manager. You have a keen sense of justice, are philosophical and versatile in the arts. Birthdate of: Paul Reynaud, Fr. statesman; Virgil, Roman poet; Oscar Wilde, Eng. poet, dramatist, novelist; John L. Sullivan, Amer. pugilist.

Sherri Pond Scheduled At Pumpkin Show

SHERRI POND

Dynamite is the word used to describe country western rock singer Sherri Pond. Miss Pond will perform at the 69th annual Pumpkin Show, 2:30 p.m. Saturday at the West Main Street stage.

She demonstrates a dedication that is fresh, alive and believable. Miss Pond moved to Nashville in 1973 and because of her willingness to work and learn, she's enjoyed unusual success in a relatively short period of time.

Sherri has entertained extensively throughout the United States.

In October, 1974, a review in a Canadian paper read, "After an audience has a performer like Josh Graves to impress them, it is hard for another performer to follow, but tiny Sherri Pond did just that.

Her warmth and personal rapport with the audience is something people don't see much of anymore. She has remained "down home and friendly" after years of professional singing."

Her television credits include several appearances on Nashville syndicated shows, and recently, while in Canada, she was a guest on The Family Brown network program, "Country Way."

Miss Pond has written many songs, and late in 1974, she recorded and released two of her compositions. The "A" side of the record, "Chocolate Soldier" was immediately recommended by Billboard Magazine and designated a pick hit by Record World.

Sherri, petite, but powerful, plays the guitar, piano and banjo, as well as what she considers her favorite instrument, the autoharp.

Tijuana Is Favorite Of American Tourists

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Tijuana, less than a half hour's drive from downtown San Diego, is visited by more Americans than any other foreign city in the world.

According to the best available count, more than 30 million U.S. citizens crossed the border at Tijuana last year to eat a Mexican meal, watch a bullfight or a jai alai game, or make purchases.

Persons reentering the United States may bring back $100 in merchandise duty free, provided they have not claimed a similar exemption within 30 days.

CIRCLEVILLE PUMPKIN SHOW
OCTOBER 15-18

May your stay in the Circleville area be most enjoyable in every respect. The INTERESTED bankers extend a cordial welcome to visit The Savings Bank, Circleville's financial center. We are pleased to answer questions concerning our beautiful countryside and the many opportunities for pleasant living the Circleville area affords.

Again, our heartfelt thanks for the many, many hours of effort so many of our fellow citizens expended to make the 1975 Pumpkin Festival a success. We are grateful there are so many "doers" in our midst.
